

Welfare Agencies Will Help Select the 500 Neediest Families

Welfare agencies in Greater Victoria are joining forces to complete one of the most important facets of The Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund drive.

Actual selection of the 500 needy families to receive money from the fund will be made by the Christmas bureau. All other welfare agencies will submit names of the most desperate cases in their files and final selection will be made from these lists.

In this way donors to the fund are assured that their money will truly go to the 500 families in the area that can best use the funds.

Welfare agencies are urged to submit their lists to the Christmas Bureau as soon as possible to avoid delay in distributing cheques when the fund is closed just before Christmas.

As in the past three years, donations to the fund will be deductible from 1959 Income Tax. Confirmation was received yesterday from the taxation division, department of internal revenue. Receipts will be mailed to all donors. Yesterday, the fund went over the $1,000 mark with donations varying from $25 to 50 cents, submitted by a war veteran who said he wanted to help as much as he could. Total to date is $1,003.69. Latest donors:

'Professionals' Leaving Already

Hundreds to Quit Jobs If Ottawa Denies Boost

Christmas Deadline For Many

OTTAWA (CP) — A spokesman for the federal government's professional employees said Wednesday professionals will start leaving their jobs by the hundreds within the next month if pay increases are not granted.

The movement was disclosed in an interview by S. W. Sametz, president of the Professional Institute of the Public Service of Canada. The institute represents some 5,000 of the government's 9,000 professional employees.

CONCERTED EFFORT
He said there has been a concerted effort by private industry to obtain scientists and other professional civilian employees of the department of national defence. But many other government departments were considering outside jobs as well.

"A considerable number of professional people are staying on in the hope that the government will make pay adjustments still," said Mr. Sametz.

DISRUPTED SERVICE
The professional institute and division heads had been forestalling a wholesale movement. "We don't like to see the public service disrupted. But a lot seem to be on the point of making a decision. Certainly Christmas is the deadline."

Mr. Sametz emphasized "this is not a group decision but one by individuals, although all are being made on the same basis and with the same effect."

Asked whether the number considering leaving would be in the hundreds, he said "I was thinking in terms of higher figures than that."

HIGH RATE
Vacancies were already occurring at a high rate. The institute was conducting a study and preliminary figures indicated 20 per cent of professional positions in the civil service were vacant. This was in contrast with a turnover ratio of about five per cent in May, 1957, when the government granted professional employees their last general salary increase.

Ex-Mayor, Others Face $199,000 Suit

EDMONTON (CP)—The city of Edmonton Wednesday filed a $199,000 statement of claim against former mayor William Hawrelak and nine other individuals or companies.

Named as defendants were: Metropolitan Investments, owned by Hawrelak; Dominion Stores Limited; Jean F. Carrol, land buyer for Dominion; Dr. William Shandro and Paul Shandro, brothers-in-law of Mr. Hawrelak; Globe Construction Limited; City Centre Motel and Michael Bordin.

Mr. Hawrelak resigned after an inquiry decreed he was guilty of gross misconduct.

Violent Blast Rocks Montreal Hospital

MONTREAL (CP) — A severe explosion rocked the southwest wing of St. Luke Hospital Wednesday, injuring two doctors and an orderly and causing damage as high as the fourth floor.

Several patients received minor cuts from plaster shaken from the wall by the force of the blast. None was seriously hurt.

PATIENTS SAFE

All 178 patients in the wing were evacuated. Twenty were released or sent to nursing homes, the rest taken to other parts of the hospital.

Arthur Pageau, 66, a patient, died of a heart attack half an hour after the explosion while his bed was being wheeled to another part of the hospital.

The first floor of the wing was reduced to rubble.

FALLING PLASTER

The two injured doctors were buried in shattered plaster as they walked along a second-floor corridor.

Dr. Marcel Dusserault, 43, was taken to the Montreal Neurological Institute with a fractured skull. His condition is serious. Dr. Louis Benard, 57-year-old surgeon-in-chief, was treated at St. Luke for lacerations and shock.

The hospital uses natural gas in its kitchens in the basement, where the explosion hit hardest. But cause of the blast was unknown.

U.S. Moon Rocket Fails to Make It

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A powerful Atlas-Able moon rocket blasted off early today from the Florida testing ground, but failure of the upper stages ruined the U.S. effort to launch the first lunar satellite.

The four-stage missile was as tall as a 10-storey building.

Operation of Bridge 'Wide Open' to Probe

HALIFAX (CP)—Transport Minister Hees said here Wednesday night that the operation of the Jacques Cartier Bridge in Montreal will be thrown "wide open" to investigation by a parliamentary committee. (See also Page 3).

The bridge operation and threats against two senior national harbor board officials would be put before the railways and canals committee as soon as possible after Parliament opens. "We have had this under investigation for two years," Mr. Hees said. "We were never able to get enough evidence for a conviction. The only other thing to do was to put in the automatic toll devices."

Plans to install machines to collect tolls brought threats against J. A. Clement, superintendent of the Jacques Cartier span, and Guy Beaudet, Montreal harbor manager.

Reds Skip Veto

GENEVA (Reuters) — Russia Wednesday unexpectedly showed willingness to abandon veto rights in a proposed East-West commission to police a ban on nuclear weapons tests.

The welcome move came shortly before some 30 nuclear scientists of the United States, Russia and Britain began a 15-day study on the detection of underground explosions.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin suggested a study on alternative procedures to the veto.

After the meeting, he told reporters: "We are trying to find forms of voting in the control commission other than unanimity among the three original nuclear powers."

The unanimity idea has plagued the United Nations and other international bodies. It means that one of the great powers, by opposing the others, can exert a veto on any major decision.

European Defenders 'Scattered, Unusable'

India Ready, Able To Fight for Its Life

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told an aroused parliament yesterday that India was ready and able to fight for its life if the border dispute with Communist China erupted into war.

Nehru raised his voice to emphasize the point in one of the strongest speeches he has made yet on the simmering frontier argument with India's giant neighbor.

Nehru pleaded for unity. He said this would be the country's greatest strength.

He said he did not think the border argument with Peking, which has cost the lives of a number of Indian soldiers already, would lead to war.

"But if war is thrust upon us," he said, "we will fight with all our strength."

"I am not boasting but our defence forces are capable of taking care of the security of our country."

CHIANG KAI-SHEK

Chiang Plans Air Invasion

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek plans to parachute 3,000 specially-trained Nationalist Chinese troops into Red China in "the near future" to touch off a revolt against the Communist regime. Rep. Silvio O. Conte (R. Mass.) said yesterday.

Conte has just returned from a month-long tour of southeast Asia which included a 15-minute talk with Chiang on Formosa.

Germans Hold Front

PARIS (UPI)—The commander of NATO operations in central Europe believes the West would find the Belgian and Dutch troops "unusable" and its French forces all in Algeria should the Soviet launch an attack today.

French air force Gen. Jean Valluy described the present military situation in central Europe in a briefing for provincial French reporters.

Valluy said NATO's first line of defence in Europe was manned entirely by the Germans "and there would have to be some delay before the arrival of British and American troop reinforcements."

In contrast, he said, "some 20 Soviet divisions (400,000 men) and 7,000 armored vehicles are concentrated in East Germany. In a few days these 20 divisions would be 50 and the 2,000 planes, 4,000."

The general said while NATO also had 20 divisions, "we have nothing in depth. The Belgian and Dutch forces are unusable for the moment," he said. "The French forces are in Algeria."

Fraser Pilots Return to Jobs

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Fraser River pilots went back to work yesterday and the port returned to normal. The seven pilots tied up the port at noon Tuesday when they refused to work because the department of transport had not taken over operation of the pilot boat. Yesterday, the department agreed to pay the cost of operating the boat which pilots said was too costly for pilots themselves to operate.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

A FRIEND played a dirty trick on me. He gave me some papers to take home—in a briefcase. People who work for newspapers are afraid of briefcases, for the same reason that they are afraid of clubs and lodges. The briefcase and the club membership card are signs of involvement. They show that a man has ceased to be an observer of the game, and signed on as a player. Newspaper men feel they shouldn't do that. They have the idea that they should travel light—that they should carry no material except some notes scribbled on a grubby sheaf of folded copy paper.

When a man carries a briefcase or a club membership card, he aspires to be a citizen. It is well known that you can't be a newspaper man and a citizen at the same time.

A briefcase is a formal thing. It looks as though it is filled with thick, dull papers that are full of long words. Sometimes it contains nothing but a cheese sandwich and a comic book. But it looks formal, just the same.

For those reasons I was disturbed when my friend handed me the briefcase.

"Hey, I can't carry that down the street," I protested. "People will think I have joined the enemy."

But he didn't offer to take the briefcase back. So I walked along with the briefcase clasped in my arms, hunched over, as if I were holding a cat that might jump down and run away.

It still looked like a briefcase. I hurried to the car, put the briefcase on the back seat, and threw an old coat over it.

Later I sneaked it into my house under cover of darkness.

Once I really owned a briefcase, which was given to me as a parting gift. At that time I could use it with a clear conscience, because I was only a student.

I lent this case to someone who promptly left town and disappeared.

Another time I came into possession of a third briefcase, which was lent to me with some papers in it. I sneaked it home. Then—as things often seem to do in my house—it dropped from sight, and I have never been able to find it since.

Possibly, because of a subconscious fear of briefcases, I hid it while walking in my sleep.

Victoria may get a regular supply of good foreign movies—if the people want them.

The people's opinions will be tested from Nov. 30 to Dec. 2, inclusive, when the wide-screen color movie "Don Quixote" in Russian, with English subtitles, is shown twice nightly at the Fox Theatre (6.45 and 9 p.m.).

Don Quixote is the first major Soviet production in Cinemascope. It is said to be faithful to the spirit of Cervantes' novel.

People of the audience will be given a questionnaire, asking: "Did you enjoy this film?" and "Would you like to see more films like it?"

I hope a few thousand people say "Yes." Those who don't attend will have no right to complain afterward.

Seattle Doctor:

'Let Them Prove Fluorides Good'

Anti-fluoridationist Dr. F. B. Exner of Seattle told a luncheon meeting at the Dominion Hotel yesterday that if he told the people of Victoria what harm would result from fluoridation, it would be up to him to prove it.

"I would have taken on the burden of proof. I prefer not to do it. It is up to those, who seek to impose fluoridation, to prove it is safe," he said.

He referred to a fluoridated test area where the death rate rose to six times as high as the non-fluoridated area used in the test.

"I am not going to tell you you will die sooner, if you put fluoride in your water, because I would have to prove it... but you might very well wonder," he said.

"When it is proposed to add a known poison to the water supply, the burden is on those who supply the water to prove it is safe," he claimed.

He said "some people, at least will be harmed. One child out of five will have disfigured teeth." He said it might take 40 years for some of the effects to show up.

He said not one of the organizations urging fluoridation has offered to accept responsibility for the effects of fluoridation.

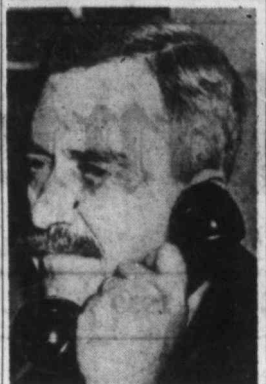

He said two cents worth of drug grade fluoride would be enough to last a youngster two years. Dosage, he said, would be two grams to an imperial gallon and one teaspoonful a day to be taken.

Dr. Arthur B. MacWhinnie, a Seattle dentist, said men have been thrown out of the dental association for speaking against fluoridation.

Savings Firms Probed

NEW YORK (UPI)—An investigation is under way of eight savings and loan associations charged with insuring $100,000,000 of their investors' funds with a one-room Tangiers firm that had only $150,000 in assets.

Charge Dropped

A perjury indictment against former U.S. Communist chief Earl Browder in 1952 was dismissed yesterday in federal court because a government witness against Browder had died and another could not be located. Charge against Browder was connected with alleged false information he gave to immigration authorities in 1944 concerning his wife's application for citizenship.

The investigation, touched off by a court action by attorney general Louis Lefkowitz of the State of New York, involves wealthy financier Stewart B. Hopps, Belvedere, Calif., who formerly was connected with Lowell M. Birrell, accused international swindler.

Hopps was named yesterday in a petition by Lefkowitz asking the right to examine the savings and loan associations, the insurance company and 46 individuals. Supreme Court Justice Jacob Markowitz granted the petition and the examination is to start Jan. 13.

Lefkowitz said he was acting to protect investors and had no proof that any loss had occurred.

He charged in his petition that the savings and loan associations had insured $100,000,000 mortgage loan assets with the International Guaranty and Insurance Company of Tangiers, Morocco, he said the country of only $151,000 in insurance company's assets Jan. 31, 1958.

Two Plead Guilty To $4,000 Theft

Two young men and a juvenile appeared in city police court yesterday, charged with breaking, entering and theft in the $4,000 burglary last Friday night of Vancouver Barge Transportation Ltd., 1112 Wharf.

Waldon William Pelton, 20, of HMCS Naden, pleaded guilty to the charge, as did Charles C. Casey, 16, of 1228 Crown Crescent, who was transferred from Juvenile court.

Barry H. Sharpe, 23, of 614 Marfield, was remanded to Monday for election of trial method and plea.

The other two were also remanded to Monday, and Magistrate William Ostler ordered probation reports on both.

Pelton and Casey also pleaded guilty to a charge of car theft laid against all three, and this also was put over to Monday.

The car, property of Betty Smith of Victoria, was stolen from a street near the warehouse and used to transport cigarettes valued at $2,800 and electrical appliances worth $500 from the plant to a James Bay apartment.

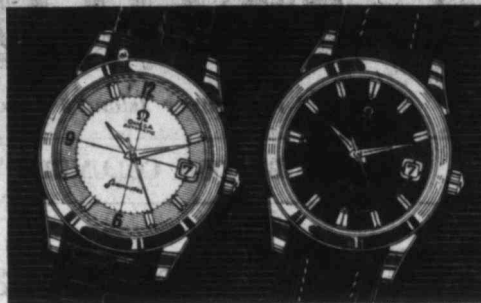

When the three were arrested Monday afternoon, city detectives recovered $2,700 worth of the cigarettes, the electrical appliances, and $451.50 in cash of about $700 cash stolen from a warehouse safe.

In the same court yesterday, Melvin Garry Bagg, 30, of Point, was sentenced to one month in jail following earlier conviction on a charge of assault causing bodily harm to two-year-old Dean French.

Magistrate Ostler noted that Bagg's probation report indicated he was a good soldier, but that while he accepted defence counsel's statement that Bagg meant no permanent

LET'S KEEP UP THE GOOD WORK WITH A GOOD MAYOR

P. B. SCURRAH

Let's Look at the Record:

Every promise made when he first took office has been carried out... including Point Ellice Bridge, a new Fire Hall, town planning and other important improvements... with a tax rate increased only in the field of education and home assessment, matters controlled by the Provincial Government and not by the Mayor.

Let's Look to the Future:

Re-election of Mr. Scurrah will give us a man who will give his whole time to the office of Mayor, who pledges the same high standards of integrity and dignity that have marked his two previous terms... who will continue to devote his experience and ability to the interest of Victoria.

Re-elect a man who has given unstintingly of his time, energy and years of business experience to give us sane, controlled civic government... a policy of economy, efficiency and a program of "pay-as-you-go" public works that has spelt steady progress for our city.

In Mr. Scurrah we choose a man for Mayor who holds the confidence and respect, not only of Victoria citizens but of government and municipal bodies with whom he has worked and co-operated during his term of office. A vote for him is one for continuance of Victoria's growth and expansion, for a mayor who has proved his ability to work with your council for your interest.

Power Brakes Bad On 1953 Buick

LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—The Michigan supreme court said Wednesday power brakes on 1953 Buicks were defective and that General Motors failed to warn Buick owners they were driving a "dangerous instrument."

The court, in an opinion by Justice George Edwards, said GM had "warned its dealers" of a defect in the power brake systems.

But it said the firm "did not warn those into whose hands they had placed this dangerous instrument and whose lives (along with the lives of others) depended upon defective brakes which might fail without notice."

The opinion came in a decision in which the high court reversed a lower court judge who had thrown out a damage suit against GM.

The suit was brought by Robert Comstock and the Zurich Insurance Co., after Comstock was injured by a 1953 Buick and had his right leg amputated.

The high court said a "modern automobile equipped with power brakes which fail without notice is as dangerous as a loaded gun."

The court said Buick agencies were instructed to make repairs on power brake systems at GM expense whenever 1953 Buicks came into their shops "without notice to the owners and even if there were no complaints about the brakes."

But it said "no warning to owners . . . was given either by General Motors or by the agency which sold this Buick as far as this record reveals."

He told the Canadian delegation headed by Speaker Roland Michener, "We're prepared to sit down any day with or without a third party."

Refugee Aid Pledged

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—Israel's Premier David Ben-Gurion told a Canadian parliamentary delegation yesterday Israel will compensate Arab refugees who abandoned land in Israel or will pay to resettle them in Arab countries.

Ben-Gurion said the Arab refugee problem could be solved as soon as the Arab leaders wanted.

Threat to Bridge Man

MONTREAL (CP)—J. A. Clement, federal bridge superintendent in Montreal, yesterday declined to say whether he is the national harbord board official threatened by gunmen when automatic tolls were being installed on Jacques Cartier Bridge.

"I can't say one way or the other," said Mr. Clement after The Montreal Star quoted harbors board officials and the RCMP as confirming that Mr. Clement was threatened last summer.

Clement said when asked about the newspaper story. "If I say it's not me, what more does it give? It just means it's someone else. If I say it is me, what good does that do?"

"There's one thing I can confirm. Somebody was threatened. That's true. But I can't say anything more."

Other national harbors board officials have confirmed that one of their key officers had been told by a gunman to stop the installation of the toll machines "or else." But they also declined to name the official.

The incident came to light following disclosure that toll revenue under the automatic system had jumped more than $150,000 in September and October over the corresponding months of last year.

Piecemeal Plebiscites

IT is late in the day for the Greater Victoria Water Board to draw cards in the game of "will-you, won't-you" concerning fluoridation in the region. For one thing, all four municipalities of the Greater Victoria group will be putting the question to their electors at the December polls. In the event of a negative vote, there would be no need to consult the water board about anything; nor in fact has it any special jurisdiction in unorganized territory directly under the provincial government. In the event of an affirmative municipal vote from the massed populations of these areas, could an unorganized tail swing the municipal dog?

With due respect to Mr. Upward, one believes that he is anticipating difficulty which may not eventuate. The provincial government is responsible for the unorganized areas adjoining Greater Victoria. Presumably if it had thought a plebiscite was necessary there it would have put one. That could still be done at local district post offices or other meeting places; and the few hundred ballots required would not be hard to distribute to such voting centres. If that is done, however, it should certainly be at the same time as the plebiscites in Greater Victoria.

If one is looking for difficulties there could be no end to them. View Royal is voting currently on proposed incorporation as a village municipality. If the inner municipal areas waited for consummation of this or any other incorporation under municipal law, the time perhaps would never come to decide an issue on which the general public has been ready to vote for a good long time. Outside of municipal boundaries the province is charged with watching the interests of the unorganized territories and does so. One cannot conceive of the government overriding whatever views may be expressed by a majority of electors in the metropolitan area, or failing to expedite the public reference already arranged.

Since 1955 the fluoridation issue has been tossed backward and forwards here in an inconclusive manner. We believe that the public has made up its mind on the question and will settle it this time, one way or the other.

An Absurd Situation

ALL the signs point to a change in the old-age pension regulations. Sentiment has grown in favor of permitting the security allowance to be paid no matter where the recipient lives, and reports suggest that at the next session of parliament the present restriction will be removed. If confirmed this will be only just. Pensioners have earned this pension and it should be freed of any strings. It would mean much to persons on small total incomes who might get along much easier by living elsewhere.

There are anomalies with respect to old-age pensions, however, and freeing the payment will highlight these afresh. The government made a mistake two years ago when it reduced the residence qualification from 20 years to 10. This was overgenerous. It means that a person could come to this country at the age of 60 and gain a pension 10 years later, when obviously his contribution to the life and strength of the country would be comparatively meagre. If in future he would be able to return to his native land while drawing the pension he would be unduly well rewarded.

The situation is compounded when it is realized no compulsion about citizenship is involved in old-age security payments. There is sound reason why every new settler in Canada should be compelled to take out citizenship papers after the probationary period of five years, apart altogether from the old-age pension aspect. If a new settler is not prepared to do so and assume all the obligations of citizenship he should have no place in Canada. When he can stay here and after 10 years claim a pension without swearing allegiance, however, something is patently wrong.

Once the strings were taken off the security pension it would be possible for an individual to come here from Europe, reside a brief 10 years, neglect or refuse to become a citizen, and then return from whence he came with a pension for the rest of his life. He might even be a person who fought against this country in either of the two world wars. That is obviously an absurd situation and it should be changed.

Tragedy Behind the Bars

THE case of a young ex-convict in Vancouver, sent back to prison as a drug "pusher" at the age of 22, provides one more illustration of the tragic complexity of the drug problem in this country. By his own confession this young man is an addict; but what makes his case so horrible is the statement that his introduction to narcotics was made within the walls of the B.C. penitentiary, where he was committed at the age of 15 years for burglary.

If this were an isolated case it would be bad enough, but official investigations into drug-taking in British Columbia have turned up numerous examples of men and women having their lives ruined by forming the habit as prisoners, in association with others already addicted to the use of narcotics. Because of the case histories of other victims there is no reason to disbelieve the dreadful tale of degradation in Vancouver this week.

There must be something terribly wrong with a penal system which throws youthful offenders—mere boys—among hardened felons and, infinitely worse, among those only too eager to convert others to their own degenerate habits. The great weakness in the system appears to lie in the fact that it makes no provision for segregation of young prisoners from the habituals and that drug addiction is not recognized as an illness which also ranks, in effect if not in the book, as a communicable disease. Canada and more especially the west coast have long been promised a review of the penal system in relation to the drug habit. How many more lives are to be contaminated and all but destroyed before reform becomes a reality?

Red China's Mistake

By CHARLES R. SMITH
United Press International

TOKYO (UPI)—Communist China is at odds with another of her former neutral friends. First, it was India. Now it is Indonesia.

It is no surprise that Indonesia and Communist China are in conflict. The big surprise is that it was so long in coming. Even the most naive political observers in the Indonesian capital saw the blow-up in Sino-Indonesian relations coming months ago.

The tension had been building up rapidly since last May when the government, in a move to curb the Chinese economic influence, decided to ban all alien retailers in rural areas. This ban goes into effect at the end of the year. It will affect an estimated half-million Chinese, all presumably under the direct control of Peiping, because Indonesia has no relations with Nationalist China.

The big blow-up finally came. The Indonesian foreign ministry charged the Chinese embassy in Jakarta with urging Chinese to defy the ban. It termed such action provocative.

Indonesia also hinted broadly at the possibility of uncontrollable anti-Chinese sentiments developing.

Anti-Chinese sentiment in Indonesia, long directed against the Nationalists, began to switch to the Red regime early this year. This sentiment began to find its way into the press and public statements more with the Tibetan situation. It became widespread after Peiping began opposing the ban. It became intense when the Chinese began causing trouble along the Indian border.

Most observers regarded it as a diplomatic loss of face for Indonesia when Foreign Minister Subandrio went to Peiping recently to explain the ban to top Red leaders.

All Subandrio got for his trouble, according to reliable sources, was abuse from the top Red leaders.

There were a number of related developments, including a move in some high Indonesian quarters to relax somewhat the ban on Chinese retailers. It has been reported that President Sukarno was in favor of relaxing or revoking the ban. But the army was firm and would not permit a backdown.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."
By TOM TAYLOR

A HARLEY Street surgeon is credited with saying that Napoleon lost an empire because one of his glands went askew and he got too fat at forty. After that the decline. This is not to suggest that one should watch one's waistline at this age but that history so often—one might say always—depends on human peculiarity. The Egyptians of old might have had a better time if Cleopatra's nose had not been retouched. Had it been Roman-like perhaps two celebrated Roman suitors would have sought solace elsewhere.

One would scarcely guess however from the formal history books of early addition that the shape of a nose or a few extra pounds around the middle determined the fate of peoples and thus the course of history. History is presented objectively with the warts mostly hidden and the frailties of great leaders kept under wraps. It is in the bypaths of after reading that one learns of the humanities that govern so many decisive events. The present generation is lucky, of course; our generals for one are not content to leave things to some Harley Street specialist of the future, but prefer to titillate us with the secret details while we are still living.

This is all to the good. It removes the gloss from our eyes. When a war is on we are apt to think that armies go forth unimpeded by human whim, practically automatic in their operation. During the colossal sweep of Hitler's armies for instance, heart-deep into Europe and elsewhere, it seemed from the bare facts of mileage that the Nazi machine must be the acme of inhuman efficiency. In fact the muddle and fantastic fads of the Nazi hierarchy was almost as colossal, which incidentally makes initial successes all the more amazing. It would have been a case of God-help-us had the Germans been led by a Napoleon, lean and fit and with all his glands in fine shape.

A gland is a little thing, I suppose, yet you see how vast an influence it may exert. If he could speak now Napoleon could offer a fine medical alibi for his subsequent failures. Other little human quirks help to change the world. We have been told recently for example that Wolfe at Quebec was not the resolute hero of history books but in fact was in a dither and only won on the Plains of Abraham by accident. And of course the latest in the series of wartime disclosures, the Alanbrooke's diaries, leave nothing to the imagination of either future historian or Harley Street surgeon.

If these do not precisely ascribe any decline to obesity, at forty or later, they certainly make obvious that great events follow the idiosyncrasy of great leaders. One gathers as an example that much depended each day on the personal mood of Churchill and the imps that flooded his mind. One gathers also that the fashion is growing of trying to be little this illustrious figure, who happily for us all had his glands working well when we needed him most. His mental imps, also, were not without their value; quite patently they gingered up his generals, never a bad thing.

And it is nothing new that in essence history is the story of men, their glands, their whims, and how well they slept the night before and vice versa. It always has been that way since Samson fought the Philistines before he got his hair cut.

Reports from Ottawa

A SHREWD student of the civil service mind recently produced a "Form of Daily Service for Use in Government Departments" which began with this prayer:

"Oh, Lord, grant that this day we come to no decision, neither run into any kind of responsibility..."

In May, 1958, a .22 cal. takedown rifle specially designed and manufactured for use by airmen forced down in the wilderness was declared surplus to RCAF requirements. This rifle fires the .22 centrefire Hornet cartridge, a much more powerful round than the ordinary rimfire .22.

Twenty thousand of these survival rifles were turned over to War Assets Disposal Corp., and in July, 1958, WADC began selling them to gun dealers across the country. On Aug. 25 the defence department wrote WADC warning that the rifle might be a danger to the public.

WADC ignored the warning, there being nothing in regulations requiring the government second-hand dealers to decide on questions of public safety.

HYMN:
"Oh, Thou who sees all things below
Grant that thy servants may go slow,
That they may study to comply
With regulations till they die."

On Nov. 28 the defence department wrote to the RCMP about the situation. RCMP Assistant Commissioner D. E. McKinnon replied on Dec. 3, with carbon copy to WADC, suggesting that sales should be stopped because he believed the rifles would be "extremely dangerous" to the public if they were "defective."

WADC withdrew the rifles from sale, and on Feb. 13 it returned to the RCAF the "declarations of surplus" covering the weapons with the advice that unless the RCAF reclassified the rifles as scrap, WADC would have to continue selling them.

The RCAF, while considering the rifles a public menace, declined to classify them as defective. It returned the documents to WADC with the notation that the rifles were "new," "used" and "serviceable."

WADC reinstated the rifles in its sales catalogue, but warned subsequent buyers that the rifles were being sold "for sporting purposes" only, and that WADC would not be responsible for their condition or safety.

HYMN:
"Teach us, Lord, to reverence
Regulations more than common sense.
Impress our minds to make no plan,
But pass the buck where'er we can."

Although this folding takedown rifle with its 14-inch barrel can readily become a concealed weapon, it is a rifle rather than a pistol, it is not a sawed-off weapon, and thus is not covered by the laws governing registration of firearms. WADC officials say they got reassurance on this point from both the RCMP and the Ontario Provincial Police.

Up to this month about 3,400 of the rifles had been sold under the WADC policy of selling anything there is no law against selling.

Then Ottawa Police Chief Reg Axcell publicly criticized sale of the weapon. It is ideal for poachers, assassins and holdup men, he charged. Justice Minister Fulton took action to halt further sales. Ontario Attorney General Kelso Roberts ordered Ontario purchasers to return their rifles to dealers and get refunds, but the order appears unenforceable because under the law they are not illegal weapons.

HYMN:
"And when the Tempter seems to give Us feelings of initiative,
Or when alone we go too far Chastise us with a circular."

BENEDICTION: "The peace of the Civil Service which passeth all understanding preserve your minds in lethargy, your bodies in inertia, and your souls in somnolence, now and evermore, amen."

The Packstack

Behind the Times

By GREGORY CLARK

TWO card-carrying Communists called on me the other morning to explain to me how stupid I am.

After lunch, a friend devoted to modern art picked me up and took me to an exhibition of modern sculpture. On arriving at the gallery, we had to pass through several rooms the walls of which were covered with modern paintings, and my friend slowed down to explain to me that in order to look at these works with understanding and appreciation, I had to divest my mind of all previous misconceptions with regard to art.

With the Classics

I hold it true, what'er befall;
I feel it when I sorrow most;
Tis better to have loved and lost
Than never to have loved at all.

—TENNYSON.

In the sculpture gallery, I was unable to recognize any of the objects on display. When I told my friend I supposed they were sort of driftwood done in stone, driftstone, sort of, he explained that they were not intended to have any meaning. I was supposed to get an emotion from looking at them, some weird kind of psychic communication between me and the artist who had drifted them up, or beat the be-jeepers out of them.

But, as the Communists had said, I'm stupid.

When we left the gallery, which is not in a very fragrant neighborhood, we met five lads with duck-tail haircuts, black coats, red noses, sly eyes, and they crowded us off the sidewalk with their elbows, their hands being in their pants pockets.

I began to feel it was an off day for me, and my friend drove me to his apartment where he has a hi-fi built around all four walls of a room. He played symphonies by a Mr. Prokofiev and a Mr. Bartok that sounded just plain nuts to me.

By the time I got home, I realized how stupid I really am, and how far behind the times.

Canada's Policy

Refugees From Europe

Citizenship and Immigration

THE Minister of Citizenship and Immigration, the Hon. Ellen Fairclough has outlined Canada's policy with respect to the admission of refugees from Europe, and amplified the statement made by the Secretary of State for External Affairs, to the United Nations on September 24, to the effect that 100 tuberculous refugees, and their families would be admitted to Canada as a special contribution to World Refugee Year.

Mrs. Fairclough stated that immigration regulations will be waived for these tuberculous refugees and their families. The federal government will pay travelling expenses and arrangements are being made with the provincial authorities for treatment in hospitals and sanatoria and with regard to the maintenance of dependents as required.

Immigration regulations will also be waived in respect of other European refugees suffering from tuberculosis or from a physical handicap which does not seriously impede his integration into Canadian life, provided the refugee and his family are sponsored by a recognized voluntary agency which has undertaken to assume the responsibility of continuing care.

Canada has always given preferential consideration to refugees. Immediately following the Second World War, Canada began to accept thousands of refugees and displaced persons outside the scope of ordinary immigration program. It has been a fundamental aspect of the Canadian attitude that when the breadwinner of a refugee family can qualify as an ordinary immigrant, he should be dealt with as such and dependent members of his family may also be admitted to Canada notwithstanding their age or physical disabilities, provided they do not suffer from insanity or contagious diseases and the breadwinner will be able to support them in Canada.

Government policy makes it possible for refugees who might not be able to meet Canadian immigration selection standards to come to Canada under various sponsorship arrangements:

Reunion of Families: Cases where refugee families have been separated for medical reasons, when the head of the family or a working member of the family is a permanent resident of Canada, have always received sympathetic consideration. If the disability involves diseases which are contagious or likely to require institutional care, the health authorities of the province in which the immigrant will reside must give assurance that satisfactory arrangements have been made for acceptance and treatment of the member or members of the family suffering from such diseases. Although the Immigration Act prohibits the admission of persons suffering from infectious or contagious diseases, refugees who cannot comply with the health requirements may be granted admission for treatment.

General Sponsorship: Any resident of Canada may apply for the admission of a refugee, whether friend or relative, residing in Austria, Germany or Italy. Approval is conditional upon the ability and understanding of the sponsor to provide satisfactory settlement arrangements, including employment where necessary. The sponsor must be a reliable person who will respect the conditions of his undertaking not to allow the refugee to become a public charge. The refugee must be of good character and meet the usual medical requirements, although sympathetic consideration is given in all cases except those involving insanity or a contagious disease.

Voluntary Agency Sponsorship: Reputable voluntary agencies have also the privilege of sponsoring the admission of refugees from Europe. Recognized agencies are:

The Canadian Christian Council for the Resettlement of Refugees; The Canadian Council of Churches; The Rural Settlement Society of Canada (Catholic Immigrant Services); The Canadian Jewish Congress; Jewish Immigrant Aid Services.

In addition, where these agencies are willing to accept full and continuing responsibility, the department is prepared to admit ill or disabled refugees.

PUC Stranglehold

Your article "One Man's Poison" is the most intelligent and enlightening opinion expressed by any individual or politician in the past five years.

To fully realize the stranglehold the Public Utilities Commission has on our local trucking establishments, one has only to inquire as to the price for moving furniture to Vancouver. They will be told, as I was, to stop shopping because the PUC sets the minimum rates for the entire business.

May I suggest the provincial bigwigs take note of your article and clean up their own back yard before condemning the efforts of our Dominion government, in its fight to combat inflation.

Crackpot Whims

I have read with increasing indignation all the letters you have published opposing fluoridation. I am appalled at the sheer idiocy which is exhibited in some of the statements. On the continent alone more than 35,000,000 persons drink fluoridated water each day and suffer no ill effects. On the contrary, the children and their parents benefit from decreased incidence of dental decay. The children enjoy better health and their parents enjoy freedom from the ever-increasing cost of dental repair work.

I do not know who all the persons are who are opposed to this fine measure but I am ashamed that more of our thinking citizens have not publicly declared themselves in favor of it. My knowledge of fluoridation is limited but so many well-trained technical people advocate its usefulness that I truthfully cannot see any valid reason for not having fluoridation in Victoria. In my mind this is a measure which should be instituted on recommendations of our technical personnel and not on the whims and votes of a great variety of "crackpots" who are opposed to all sorts of progressive measures.

Weathering the Storm

With world conditions as they are, and unrest everywhere, a great deal of criticism is thrown at Mr. Diefenbaker and his Progressive Conservative government at Ottawa these days, but he is weathering the storm bravely, and gradually bringing the country back on its feet and when the next general election takes place, or even the provincial, the Conservatives will be, there in greater numbers than ever before.

Mr. Diefenbaker is for the right in everything that will benefit the country and we Canadians. How fortunate we are to have a man of his calibre at the head of affairs. May he long be spared!

Conditions were the same in the old country before Prime Minister Macmillan took office for the second time, but his majority was far greater—so shall it be with the Progressive Conservatives in Canada at the next election. The country will show by their vote that they know a good man when they have one.

Prisoner Benefits Urged

Inmates discharged from federal prisons should be allowed to draw unemployment insurance benefits until they are able to find suitable work in society, B.C. Penitentiary warden F. C. B. Cummins said this week.

Under the present system, unless he has earned "extra" money through the sale of hobbycraft items, an inmate at the end of his sentence is turned out with a one-way ticket, one new suit and about $20 in cash gained through a compulsory savings plan.

"He should be allowed to contribute to unemployment insurance from his earnings while he is in prison, so he can draw on it when he comes out and not feel he is on charity," Mr. Cummins told Victoria North Kiwanis Club. "After all, this is an age of social security."

The warden is a sort of travelling salesman for his inmates, offering for sale whatever he speaks: hobbycraft items ranging from artistic wall plaques to soft bedroom slippers. These items are also sold at the penitentiary.

Engine in the rear? Why, of course!

American and European automobile manufacturers have now adopted the sound principle of the rear-mounted engine. Something once considered unorthodox is now recognized as plain engineering common sense.

You see, Volkswagen's rear engine gives direct drive to the wheels, saving weight and power. It is the most efficient and economical design. And the rear engine gives your rear wheels better traction. In mud, sand, ice, snow, where other cars skid, you go.

What is more, the Volkswagen engine is air-cooled, a decided advantage when you think about it. No water to boil over in summer, or to freeze in winter. No anti-freeze needed. No radiator problems.

The engine is ingeniously cast of aluminum and magnesium alloys and is very light and powerful; undoubtedly the toughest 198 lbs. going.

It is beautifully machined for minimum friction; you will probably never need oil between changes. And so efficient that top and cruising speeds are the same. Your Volkswagen will run at 70 m.p.h. all day without strain. You get an honest 39 miles to the gallon (regular gas—regular driving).

Christianity Dying,

More People Worship Devil

VANCOUVER (CP)—A ship's steward who says he is known to readers of the British press as "the Brighton witchcraft investigator," says ancient cults involving the worship of pagan gods are moving in to replace "a dying Christianity."

Leslie Roberts, 44, a steward on the Orient and Pacific liner Orcaades which visited Vancouver Wednesday, said he is touring the world to further his research into devil worship.

"All over Europe and America organized groups of satanists—including some of the wealthiest and most respected members of the community—meet regularly to celebrate their infamous rites," he told reporters here.

Roberts, who says he was formerly a crime reporter for the London Mirror and the London Herald, says his investigations have disclosed that even religious leaders are involved in the movement.

Roberts said he has turned over a great deal of material on the subject to Scotland Yard and has been consulted on murders in which bodies have been dismembered, a technique used in black magic.

"Pan worship or black magic deals with the darker side of worship," he said. "Human sacrifice is essential. Therefore there is a big trade in unborn children, infants and young girls."

He said he had information that a baby was used as a human sacrifice a year ago in the Sussex village of Rottingdean.

The main black magic group in Britain, Roberts said, is the Order of the Temple of the Orient.

"In this there are unscrupulous people, fake magicians and charlatans who are trying to gain complete control over the black magic organization. There is big money in it."

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP)—The man with the goatee came out with a mouthful of beatnik talk when arrested for stealing a 35-cent magazine at a newsstand.

"Like what's the trouble, dad?" asked Edward Taylor, 24. "Like what did I do wrong, man?"

Arresting officers dutifully reported Taylor's words.

Judge James S. Hogan was seen to smile. He looked down at Taylor and said:

"Like, man, you just got yourself 10 days."

SPCA Man Freed On Kiss Charge

Father of Six Never Close He Testifies

NANAIMO — "Like Caesar's wife, an SPCA official must at all times be careful of his actions," Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts said yesterday.

He made the remark in dismissing a charge of assault against Nanaimo SPCA Inspector Otto Eugene Comis.

Comis was accused of putting his arm around the waist of Patty Ann Raynor, 17, the 1959 "Miss Nanaimo," and attempting to kiss her.

IN SUCH MANNER

Magistrate Beevor-Potts said that although Miss Raynor testified in a straightforward manner he found it difficult to believe a man of Comis' standing would act in such a manner.

Miss Raynor testified she told Comis he could not inspect kennels on her parents' property because her mother, Mrs. S. E. Raynor, was away and she had been told never to enter the kennels with a stranger.

She said Comis then tried to hold her and kiss her but she pushed him away and ran into the house and locked the door.

LOT OF TROUBLE.

Miss Raynor said Comis told her: "Look here, sister, if you behave yourself you can save your parents a lot of trouble."

When she shunned him further he said: "I'm going to get the RCMP and make it hot for your mother," Miss Raynor claimed.

Miss Raynor said she had delayed bringing the charge for several days because she did not want to "drag the Miss Nanaimo title through the mud."

CAUSE TROUBLE

Asked if she could define what she meant when she said Comis had told her he was going to cause some trouble, Miss Raynor replied:

"Trouble? He's shown a prime example of that!"

She apparently referred to a case in which her mother was convicted last Thursday of cruelty to animals on a charge brought against her by Comis.

Mrs. Raynor was given a 14-month suspended sentence and ordered to pay court costs of $42.25 within 30 days or go to jail for 21 days.

IT'S A LIE

Comis' first words about Miss Raynor's testimony were: "It's a lie."

He said Miss Raynor's attitude at the kennels was belligerent. Comis said that on a previous occasion, Mrs. Raynor had told him she would be waiting with a loaded shotgun if he came near the home.

When asked why he ventured to the Raynor property unaccompanied, Comis replied: "I don't intimidate very easily."

Inspector Comis, father of six children, said he was never less than six feet from Miss Raynor and that she had a "belligerent attitude."

Teachers To Rally Dec. 19-21

Representatives of the B.C. Teachers Federation from all over the province will meet in Vancouver December 19 to 21 to outline membership reaction to a plan to end "salary-by-seniority."

The revolutionary proposal, which would create three classifications of teachers based upon experience, ability and formal education, was first outlined late last month by Victoria principal Bernard C. Gillie, chairman of the BCTF committee which created it.

Mr. Gillie said last night that from his personal observations among teachers "the reaction to the plan has been good."

He said there had been extensive questioning of details of the plan but that there "appears to be a general acceptance of the principle."

Cafe, Drive-In Should Employ More Than 200

NANAIMO — A $130,000 drive-in cafe and service station development here is expected to employ more than 200 construction workers for three months and will boost winter employment.

Charlie's Right There with Advice

This wobbly month-old pup, recuperating after a severe cold, received words of encouragement yesterday from Charlie Crow, the SPCA's latest newcomer to its Duncan menagerie. The tame crow was found Tuesday by neighboring children. (Colonist photo by Charles Thompson)

Clerk-Salvationist-Playboy

Meek and Kindly But Sunday—Wow!

LONDON (UPI)—During the week David Gustave Taylor, 47, was a humble bookkeeper. On Fridays and Saturdays he donned a Salvation Army uniform and collected pennies for the poor. On Sundays? Wow!

On Sunday night he became the playboy of the western world, moving in London's fanciest nightclubs, tipping big and living big with the $54.919 he had embezzled from the jewelry firm where he worked.

The triple life of Taylor came out yesterday in Old Bailey where he told the judge he was guilty on all 102 counts of forgery, theft and embezzlement. But he wanted one thing certain:

"I never stole a penny from the Salvation Army."

GOOD AND EVIL

Police officials said it was true. They detailed the good and evil life of David Gustave Taylor.

Weekdays Taylor appeared to be a model employee although he was fattening his $44.80 weekly pay with forged cheques.

On one of his Sunday sprees he became so enamored of a blonde nightclub hostess he gave her a $728 diamond ring, a $280 gold bracelet, a tape recorder, four dresses, a vacuum cleaner, a washing machine and a refrigerator.

BEGGING PENNIES

The next Saturday he was back in his Salvation Army uniform, going from door to door begging pennies for the Salvation Army and selling copies of its magazine "War Cry."

Most week nights he and his wife sat home reading the Bible and sometimes he would tour the pubs in uniform, collecting pennies while singing his favorite song, "Count Your Blessings."

Then on Sundays he would revert to the life of a playboy, telling his friends he was the owner of 40 jewelry stores while he passed out gold watches to hostesses who caught his eye. One night four of the hostesses staged a hair pulling brawl over his attentions.

COLLECTED, GAVE

Once he confided to a hostess that he sometimes helped the Salvation Army and after that he collected 70 cents a week from her for the army while showering her with champagne, caviar, nylon negligees, flowers and candy.

His wife was surprised but forgiving when his tale unfolded in court.

"He always brought me stockings every Saturday," she said. "He was very affectionate. I am still married to him and I cannot kick a man who is down."

Taylor was less forgiving on himself.

"I have brought disgrace on the Salvation Army and the uniform I wore," he said. "I throw myself on the mercy of the court."

The judge sentenced Taylor to seven years in prison.

Bigger, Better Than Ever

Famed All-Sooke Day Saved by Big Rally

An "overwhelming resurgence of community enthusiasm" was credited last night with a Sooke Community Association decision to preserve All Sooke Day and make it bigger and better.

The decision came from a community association meeting which its vice-president, Stan Jones, said boasted "the best turnout of members I've seen in the last four years."

Move to revitalize one of Vancouver Island's top tourist attractions came after officials of the sponsoring organization admitted publicly they believed it was headed for extinction due to financial difficulties.

Mr. Jones said the meeting decided that it would be impossible to merge the All Sooke Day celebration with the Sooke Fall Fair, but that insolvency of the event could be staved off by charging admission to the grounds and streamlining the operation.

All Sooke Day has become famous throughout lower British Columbia and the northwestern United States for its loggers' sports and its salmon and beef barbecues and clam chowder.

Mr. Jones said "we plan to make All Sooke Day the greatest loggers' sports event in North America."

Nanaimo Flying Object 'Ball' Bounced On Mountain

NANAIMO — Two school board employees sighted a huge, bouncing ball over Echo Mountain near Nanaimo during the weekend while they were on a hunting trip.

"The stars were out, but this was so much brighter and bigger it couldn't be anything else but one of those flying objects," said Audie Baldwin, 48, of 691 Cadogan, a truck driver.

He saw the object about 6.45 a.m. Sunday with Richard Jackson, 35, of 310 Chesterlea, a bus driver, from a distance of about four miles while waiting for daybreak.

Mr. Baldwin said it was the color of a star, made no noise and had visible edges like a saucer.

When it was first sighted the object was stationary above the mountain. Then it gradually descended until it was completely hidden.

About 30 seconds later it came up again and remained visible for about a minute, said Mr. Baldwin. Finally it descended until the top rim showed above the mountain, then it rose again to remain in the same spot for about five minutes before going down out of sight behind the mountain for good.

"I'll never come that close again," said Mr. Baldwin last night. "We had my son-in-law's camera in the back of the car but we didn't think of taking a picture. I sure wish we had."

The son-in-law had been left to hunt on nearby O.K. Mountain, said Mr. Baldwin. He did not see the object.

"I think I saw one of those things about three years ago. I thought it was a star going down. I could see it moving and then it went behind a mountain. It wasn't as large as this," he said.

Mr. Baldwin said a fellow employee, Harry Lomas, also of Nanaimo, reported seeing an object in the same vicinity about three weeks ago. It seemed to take off from a mountain and then remain suspended in the sky.

Restocking Of Lake Planned

CHEMAINUS—The fish and game branch will restock Fuller's Lake, near Chemainus soon, a biologist said yesterday.

David Hurn of Nanaimo said recent tests with a box of fingerlings showed the lake is free of the poison which was used a year ago to kill a poor quality fish that had been in the lake.

About 2,000 rainbow trout will be put into the lake in time for fishing next summer.

He said Wheeler's Lake, nearby, is also free of poison but that it will not need to be restocked because cutthroat trout from a stream running into it has already restocked naturally. Both lakes are at present closed to fishermen.

Fred Fatt Wins Bird Trophies

Fred Fatt of Victoria took six ribbons and three trophies at the recent Washington state red factor canary color show.

Mr. Fatt entered seven birds, including a red mahogany male which won the trophy for best dark bird in show.

Snowflurries In Toronto For Grey Cup

TORONTO—Freezing temperatures and an occasional snowflurry have been forecast for Saturday's Grey Cup game that will see Winnipeg Blue Bombers cast as the first visiting team ever favored to win the Canadian football championship.

"Current indications are that the colder weather which swept into southern Ontario Tuesday night will stay with us right through the weekend," said a Dominion public weather office report.

"Cloudy skies, the occasional snowflurry and temperatures hovering around the freezing mark would appear to be the most likely prospect for Saturday afternoon."

Winnipeg has been established as two and a half point favorites to retain the Grey Cup against Hamilton Tiger-Cats who the Bombers will be meeting in the final for a third straight year.

Bombers beat Hamilton 35-28 at Vancouver in the 1958 final and are obviously a stronger team this season. Hamilton scraped into the 1959 final with a two-point edge over Ottawa in the Big Four total-point final.

Bombers beat Edmonton Eskimos two straight in the best-of-three WIFU final.

MANY REQUESTS

Meanwhile, ticket requests continued to pour in to the helpless CNE Stadium officials who have no control over the matter. Tickets are handled by team officials.

One man wrote from a Northern Ontario town saying he wanted six Grey Cup tickets. He didn't enclose any money because the writer first wanted a copy of the stadium plan so he could pick his own seats.

A long-distance caller from Vancouver said he needed 24 tickets.

Toronto will be exposed to the hi-jinks of football fans Friday and Saturday when thousands of them arrive by train and air. And, most vociferous will be some 2,000 from Winnipeg who will arrive on trains called the Blue and Gold Specials—colors of the Bombers. Fans from Vancouver, Edmonton and Calgary will also cheer the Bombers.

Typical fan was a Winnipeg man who checked his suitcase in one of the station lockers and boarded the train without his bags and refreshment case. A hurried trip back saved a dry trip.

Speaking Briefly

Johnny Bright Wins Schenley Grid Prize

Johnny Bright, 230-pound, ground-gaining ace who with Normie Kwong formed a feared double fullback offence that led Edmonton Eskimos to three straight Grey Cup wins, has been named winner of the Schenley Trophy as Canada's outstanding football player.

The former Drake University star becomes the fourth Eskimo player to win the award since it was started in 1953. He beat out quarterback Bernie Faloney of the Big Four Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Bright, sold in 1952 to Edmonton by Calgary Stampede for $500 in what turned out to be one of the biggest bargains in WIFU history, succeeds mate Jackie Parker as the Schenley winner.

JOHNNY BRIGHT
... bargain fullback

Other Edmonton winners were Bill Vessels in 1953 and Parker in 1957 and 1958.

Quarterback Russ Jackson of Ottawa Rough Riders was chosen as this year's outstanding Canadian player with Edmonton's Don Getty as runner-up.

Third award went to Edmonton's Roger Nelson, 27-year-old tackle, who was named the outstanding Canadian lineman. Hamilton's John Barrow was second to Nelson.

INGEMAR JOHANSSON

announced that he will defend his world heavyweight boxing championship in a return bout with Floyd Patterson next June at New York. Johansson made the announcement after meeting with his adviser, Edwin Ahlqvist, and Joe Pepper, former member of the New York State Athletic Commission. Eight points in his last three games has put Kelowna's Greg Jablonski, former WHL player, seven points ahead of mate Bugs Jones in the Okanagan Senior Hockey League scoring race. Cleveland Indians report that Herb Score, Woodie Held, George Strickland, Jim Piersall and Tito Francona have returned signed contracts, the latter getting $20,000 to double his 1959 pay.

JACK KEMP, signed by San Francisco 49ers as a substitute quarterback, has been ruled ineligible to play in the National Football League because he played pre-season games with Calgary Stampede this year in the WIFU. Jack Kramer says he expects to sign Alex Olmedo to a professional tennis contract within the next few days. Olmedo would join Kramer's touring troupe. Sword Dancer was unanimous choice as horse of the year in the 24th annual poll of the Daily Racing Form. New Brunswick's Yvon Durelle, whipped last week by Canadian heavyweight George Chuvalo, has sent a letter of retirement to the Canadian Boxing Federation.

DEAN LOOK, all-star quarterback of Michigan State, has signed with baseball's Chicago White Sox. He had been approached by both the National and American pro football leagues.

BETTER PERSONNEL
This year we have better personnel than we had a year ago.

We still have our two fine outside halfbacks Ralph Goldston and Eddie Macon and we have a very good rookie, Duane Wood, playing safety between them. Wood has improved our pass defence quite a bit.

Eddie Bell, our right corner linebacker, is a great defensive player. Gordie Rowland of the Bombers played a great game in Vancouver last year. The best way of describing what Eddie Bell means to us is to say that he is capable of playing the way Rowland did.

BETTER SHAPE
We are in better shape this year to stop Winnipeg's fine fullback Charlie Shepard and Leo Lewis from coming through the middle. Winnipeg hurt us running up the middle last year.

The reason I think we can stop Winnipeg's inside running is because we have Ernie Denjean at inside linebacker with Jim Taylor. I think Denjean is the best import to come into the Big Four this year. He is an experienced line-backer and with Taylor there too, we have double protection.

In the line our anchor man is Vince Scott, whom I call the "Immovable Rock." Our tackles Dave Samanski and John Barrow are the same. In my opinion, Barrow is the best lineman in Canada.

BEST IN CANADA
Our ends are Pete Neumann, one of the best in Canada, and Don Paquette, a rookie who has improved each game.

Everyone knows that we have a good defensive team, probably a little better defence than the Bombers have.

And, everybody knows that Winnipeg's "Blockbuster Squadron" backfield of Lewis, Shepard, Carver Shannon, Gerry James and Kenny Ploen will give the Bombers a dangerous attack.

Our defensive team got us into the Grey Cup game and now we are asking them to repeat their great play against Winnipeg's good offense.

Lady Luck Plays Part As Cougars Tie Canucks

Victoria Cougars, looking more the part of Western Hockey League leaders than their cross-strait rivals, waited almost 56 minutes at Memorial Arena last night before luck turned their way to give them a 1-1 tie with the outplayed Vancouver Canucks.

The tying goal, credited to Gordie Haworth but deflected past Hank Bassen by Vancouver-defenceman Larry Cahan after a blue-line shot by Ron Matthews, was one of the few times the puck bounced right for the Cougars.

Although not skating as well as they have, the Cougars were a far better club in the first two periods. They bottled up the Canucks and carried the play. But always something, a leg, a skate or a stick, or Bassen was in the way when the puck seemed headed for the nets.

Bassen was credited with 37 saves but teammates got in front of at least as many more shots as the Cougars just missed time and again. About the only time they had any trouble was when they had a chance to use a power play which accounted for 16 goals in their first 22 games. It wasn't clicking last night and only once in five chances did the Cougars come close with the odd man.

ALL HAD CHANCE
Every Victoria forward had at least one chance with Gordie Haworth, digging all the way, having the toughest luck of all. The big leftwinger forced Bassen to make seven stops on the eight shots he got away in a performance which rated at least one goal.

Backing up the Victoria forwards was a solid defence, led last night by Jack Bionda, improving every game.

Canucks, looking perhaps a bit tired and never getting a chance to settle down, were never luckier than they were last night in holding a 1-0 lead as late as 15:33 of the final period.

It took them 17 minutes before they gave Marcel Pelletier anything tough to handle and their top line of Ed Dorohoy, Colin Kilburn and Danny Belisle didn't get a direct shot on goal in its first three shifts.

UNDER CONTROL
In fact, Dorohoy's line, although getting Canucks' goal, was kept well under control all the way with the new Cougar combination of Gordie Wilson and Doug Macauley doing most of the marking. Anderson had to be shifted to left-wing and Wilson moved into a regular spot because of the injury which kept Arlo Goodwin out of action.

Goodwin suffered a shoulder sprain in Calgary on Saturday and may be out of action for a week or more.

Canucks' goal came suddenly when Belisle got away a quick lead shot from about 15 feet after the puck had come to him from a scramble in the corner.

ONE BREAK
It looked as if it might be enough and Bassen seemed headed for his third shutout when the Cougars finally got their one break.

Al Nicholson passed the puck back to Matthews at the right point and the defence-man got away a low shot which appeared to go in off Cahan's stick. Later, Haworth received credit, officials agreeing that he had touched the puck before it hit Cahan's stick.

Cougars almost won it in the last minute but Nicholson couldn't get a rolling puck under control. In the overtime, both Macauley and Wilson missed on goal-mouth passes and Bassen made a fine leg save on a good shot by Art Jones.

Lions' Dressing Room Shelter for Jobless?

VANCOUVER (CP)—An emergency shelter committee set up to secure accommodation for jobless men during the winter has proposed the dressing rooms in Empire Stadium be used to help provide shelter.

Ald. E. A. Jamieson, chairman of the city committee, said other buildings at the Pacific National Exhibition grounds are not suitable to house unemployed overnight, but the dressing rooms used by the Western Interprovincial Football Union clubs are heated and could accommodate 125 men in emergency.

He suggested the rooms be used only in "dire emergency."

Naimark Defeats Gutoski To Keep Unbeaten Record

VANCOUVER — Barry Naimark's defending B.C. champions and Jack Arnet's unheralded youngsters from the University of British Columbia, were the only unbeaten curlers when the fourth day of the annual Totem Bonspiel was completed Wednesday night.

Both rinks won twice yesterday to start today's play with identical 8-0 records. Both have reached the quarter-finals in the Totem (Grand Challenge) event and the 16s in the Evergreen (second primary) event.

Naimark started Wednesday with an easy 10-2 win over Gerry Nicolson of Vancouver, then beat Tony Gutoski of Victoria, 8-5, in his second game.

It was the second time that Naimark has outscored Gutoski, now out of the primary events. Once again, one had ended ruined matters for the slender Victorian. Victim of a six-ender in their first meeting when he seemed to have the game in hand, Gutoski lost yesterday because Naimark cracked through for five counters on the seventh to come from behind.

Naimark and his rink of Fred Langen, Evan Wolfe and Dick Beddoes came through with some fine curling but it was Arnet's foursome which captured the imagination of behind-the-glass followers.

Three of the rink—Arnet, vice-skip Bob Christie and second Terry Miller—were from Port Alberni and have been curling together for eight years. Their lead is Jack Lutes, who calls Medicine Hat home. All are 20 years of age except Miller, the "baby" of the rink at 19.

Showing equal talent with draw or knockout play, the youngsters breezed through both their games on Wednesday. Veteran Vancouver skip Buck Glover was favored to hand them their come-uppance but became a 9-5 victim. Then Arnet's gang routed E. A. Montgomery of Vancouver, 10-4, in a game conceded after nine ends.

Knocked out of the unbeaten class yesterday were Charlie Cook, the Vancouver veteran who had been favored to come out on top after he had beaten Reg Stone earlier in the week, and Dana Quinell, whose rink is playing together for the first time.

Both Cook and Quinell ran their win streaks to seven before going down to tough opposition. Cook started the day with an 8-3 win over H. J. Patterson of Vancouver and Quinell made it seven in a row with a 7-6 squeaker over Carl Scull of Vancouver.

Then Stone got his revenge to remain in the running

Says Bernie Faloney:

'Our Defensive Team Key to Saturday Win'

By BERNIE FALONEY

Hamilton Tiger-Cat Quarterback TORONTO (TNS) — Since Winnipeg and Hamilton have played for the Grey Cup the past two years, I think it only natural to compare the 1959 teams with the two teams which played in Vancouver last year.

I think our defensive team this year is better than either the 1957 or '58 Hamilton units. In fact, the Tiger-Cat defensive team proved last Saturday against Ottawa that it is the best in the east.

I also know that our defence will have to play its best against Winnipeg. The Blue Bombers have a great backfield, one which can do everything an offence can do with the ball.

BETTER PERSONNEL
This year we have better personnel than we had a year ago.

We still have our two fine outside halfbacks Ralph Goldston and Eddie Macon and we have a very good rookie, Duane Wood, playing safety between them. Wood has improved our pass defence quite a bit.

Eddie Bell, our right corner line-backer, is a great defensive player. Gordie Rowland of the Bombers played a great game in Vancouver last year. The best way of describing what Eddie Bell means to us is to say that he is capable of playing the way Rowland did.

BETTER SHAPE
We are in better shape this year to stop Winnipeg's fine fullback Charlie Shepard and Leo Lewis from coming through the middle. Winnipeg hurt us running up the middle last year.

The reason I think we can stop Winnipeg's inside running is because we have Ernie Denjean at inside linebacker with Jim Taylor. I think Denjean is the best import to come into the Big Four this year. He is an experienced line-backer and with Taylor there too, we have double protection.

In the line our anchor man is Vince Scott, whom I call the "Immovable Rock." Our tackles Dave Samanski and John Barrow are the same. In my opinion, Barrow is the best lineman in Canada.

BEST IN CANADA
Our ends are Pete Neumann, one of the best in Canada, and Don Paquette, a rookie who has improved each game.

Everyone knows that we have a good defensive team, probably a little better defence than the Bombers have.

And, everybody knows that Winnipeg's "Blockbuster Squadron" backfield of Lewis, Shepard, Carver Shannon, Gerry James and Kenny Ploen will give the Bombers a dangerous attack.

Our defensive team got us into the Grey Cup game and now we are asking them to repeat their great play against Winnipeg's good offense.

Pair Fined $1,000 For 'Pit-Lamping'

Two Sidney deer hunters found at 3:30 a.m. in the Jordan River area Nov. 8 paid fines for pit-lamping totalling $1,044 in Colwood police court yesterday.

William Cowell, 801 Third, and James E. Mason, 9125 McTavish, were both charged with pit-lamping and possession of a doe deer out of season.

Mason was fined $500 and $5 costs on the first charge and $15 and $3 costs on the second, while Cowell paid $500 and $3 cost and $15 and $3 costs in the second charge.

The men were apprehended by game warden Jack Lenfesty and RCMP constable P. A. Eastman while on a routine patrol on the West Coast Road between Sooke and Jordan River.

They were found to have three guns, a light and the "warm doe deer" in the car, officers said.

Got His Deer After Struggle

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Hunter Jack Black got his deer—but more by luck than judgement. Returning from a trip to Bridge Lake, about 100 miles north of here, Black saw a large four-point buck on the roadside and fired twice.

The deer took off up the hillside. Black ran after it and fired three more times, each shot hitting the deer but not killing it.

With one leg broken the deer finally fell. Black had no shells left so he slugged the animal with his rifle. It bent the barrel.

The deer charged. Black grabbed the antlers and heaved the animal partly down the hill. His dog got out of the car and into the act.

Finally, dog, deer and hunter bowed over and over down the hill with Jack winding up astride the buck. He reached for his hunting knife but he didn't have it.

Next he tried breaking the deer's neck, but the buck was still too strong.

A passing hunter came to the rescue and shot the deer. Jack cleaned the animal with a tiny pen-knife, dragged it to the car and continued on his way.

Two Types Of Hunters In Woods

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP)—There are two types of sportsmen in the woods near here. One hunts deer and the other watches hunters hunting deer.

A stuffed deer turned up in the woods and residents began going to the area to watch determined hunters sneak up and blast it with rifles; sneak a bit closer and fire again; then creep up close enough to discover the joke.

One angry hunter rammed his car into the stuffed deer after bullets failed to bring it down.

But the "deer" was still standing there Tuesday—punctured by 29 bullet holes.

Edmonton Riddles Stand-In

CALGARY — A five-goal third-period scoring outburst against substitute goalie Ray Brooks carried Edmonton-Flyers to an 8-1 Western Hockey League win over Calgary Stampede last night and into third place.

Regular Calgary goalie Claude Pronovost had to retire after the second period in which he was shaken up following a collision with Edmonton forward Chuck Holmes. Pronovost is expected to play Saturday night when Calgary hosts Spokane Comets.

Holmes and Don Poile paced the relentless Edmonton attack with two goals. Gordon Labossiere, Roger Dejour, Len (Comet) Haley and Warren Hynes contributed singles.

Rookie Ike Scott scored Calgary's only goal for an early 1-0 lead.

Edmonton's win was a second in as many nights over Calgary, who dropped to 20th spot with its 11th loss in 20 games after romping to the Prairie Division title last season.

Scott had given Calgary a 1-0 lead when his shot hit Edmonton defenceman Gordon Strate's stick and bounced past goalie Dennis Riggins after only 3:18 of play.

Edmonton tied it when Hynes scored at 5:01 of the second. Labossiere got the eventual winner at 11:08 and Holmes made it 3-1 with his first goal exactly five minutes later.

Pressed into service when Pronovost failed to return for the third period, Brooks blocked 16 of 21 shots fired at him.

Kamloops-Merritt Defeats Carlings

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—Brilliant goaltending by John Panagrot sparked Kamloops-Merritt to a 6-4 win here Wednesday over New Westminster in a Pacific Coast Amateur Hockey League game.

Panagrot stopped 39 shots, 15 in the last period. In the New Westminster goal John Podmore held 21.

Kamloops held a 5-4 lead going into the third period. New Westminster pressed but couldn't make it with the equalizer.

Fred Garbor clinched the victory with an insurance marker at 14:26. Bruce Harrison led the winners with two goals. Bob Schollar, Gordie Kuzomoto, and Gordie Hudson were the other marksmen.

The game marked the debut of referee Babe Pratt, a former NHL player with Toronto and New York. Pratt assessed three minors to New Westminster, one to Kamloops.

Kamloops play today against Chilliwack Volvos in the Fraser Valley city.

'Little' Teams Not So Lucky

(Another of a series on Old Country sports, written by former Daily Colonist sports writer Ian Glenday, who is on an extended visit overseas.)

By IAN GLENDAY

LONDON—Six non-league clubs and three amateur teams are all that's left of the hundreds of teams from outside the Football League that started the Football Association Cup competition with aspirations of fame and fortune.

Enfield, a high-scoring north London side, Wycombe Wanderers and Crook Town, amateur cup finalist last season, are the amateur teams to survive the opening round. The part-time professionals who made it into the second round, Dec. 5, are South Shields, Peterborough, King's Lynn, Kettering, Salisbury and Bath City, one of the best of the non-league clubs that qualified for the opening round.

The progress of some of these "little" clubs in the competition dominated in the late stages by the first division teams, is always watched with interest and seldom a season passes when a number of league teams suffers the humiliation of defeat at the hands of the part-timers. In many cases the non-league side could hold its own in the lower divisions of league football.

The element of surprise and the natural feeling to cheer for the underdog are two of the most attractive features of the FA cup. Few will forget the feats of little Tooting and Mitchum, and the amazing run of third division Norwich in last season's cup battle, and a few seasons ago York City, also a third division team, went through to the semis.

But the luck of the draw has not smiled kindly on the surviving non-league clubs and a hasty exit by all but two or three of them is expected even before the first and second division sides enter the battle in the third round. Five of the nine part-timers have been drawn at home but two of them face formidable opposition and unless they win outright there seems little hope for them if it went to a replay.

South Shields has a chance against Bradford and Enfield might get past Bournemouth. But Salisbury entertains tough Newport, Crook Town must face York and Kettering is host to Crystal Palace.

Bath, leader of the premier division of the southern league and conqueror of fourth division Millwall, seems up against it at Notts County; Peterborough, a famous cup-fighting side, must expect defeat at Walsall; Wycombe must travel to Watford, and King's Lynn, a Norfolk club hoping to carry the East Anglian colors as well as Norwich did last season, visits Reading.

Norwich, of course, is out of this season's play but there are one or two third division clubs that could play the Norwich giant-killing role. Aston Villa, leading the second division, could go a long way but so much depends on the draw that it is impossible, and rather pointless, to assess the merits of the relative clubs in this unpredictable competition. League form means little and the Wembley prize is often the inspiration that an out-of-form club needs for a successful cup run.

England's first victory in eight international matches, a 2-1 Wembley conquest of Ireland, was not an impressive one but in the light of recent trials and tribulations it was more valuable from a morale-boosting point of view than the two hard-earned points in the home table.

And it was a bit ironic that with the number of big-name Scottish League stars who have moved to English League clubs in recent months it was a Scottish League player who played the biggest part in the victory.

Although it was young Ray Parry of Bolton who supplied the winning goal in the final minute, Joe Baker of Hibernian was the star of England's improved attack, scoring the first goal brilliantly and making the play for Parry's game-saver. Baker, at centre-forward, put some new life into the England attack with his thrustful play and worrying aggressiveness and must have cheered the selectors with a performance that showed definite promise for the future.

VIC STASIUK

Marcel's Return Finishes in Tie

NEW YORK — Marcel Paille's annual return to the National Hockey League turned out to be a disappointment for coach Alf Pike's New York Rangers last night as

Montreal	20	14	3	4	72	37	32
Detroit	21	18	5	6	58	49	38
Toronto	19	9	5	5	46	43	33
Boston	21	9	18	3	70	73	39
New York	20	3	12	5	53	75	11
Chicago	20	3	13	3	41	59	9

Last night's score: Boston 3 at New York 3.

Next games—Tonight: Montreal at Detroit, Toronto at Chicago, New York at Boston.

Paille made only 16 saves in a 3-3 draw with Boston Bruins.

Boston's Vic Stasiuk fired a 10-footer past Paille with just less than three minutes left to play and forced the fifth-place Rangers to settle for their fifth tie of the season.

New York has still not won a game since Pike, formerly of Winnipeg Warriors of the Western League, replaced Phil Watson.

Rangers, playing well in spurts, appeared to have a fourth win in the bag Wednesday until Stasiuk tied things up. Rookie Ken Schinkel had beat Boston's Harry Lumley with a low backhand at 11:33 of the third period to put Rangers ahead 3-2.

Howard Russell Trophy Winners

Oak Bay Rugby Champs

When, and if, Oak Bay relinquishes its monopoly on the city high school rugby championship, THAT will be news.

Oak Bay captured the title and the Howard Russell Trophy Wednesday afternoon at Victoria High for the 13th time in 17 years by defeating an outweighted and outclassed host team 16-3 to win the annual best-of-three series in straight games.

Coach Don Oliver's club had swapped Victoria High 33-0 in the opener last week.

The underdog Victoria High team cut Oak Bay's scoring plays in half before 400 fans yesterday but could manage only a single try, that by Bob Grivel.

One fellow Victoria High could not stop was Oak Bay captain Doug Gilmour who scored 21 points in the first game. Gilmour, the team's kicker, ran for two tries and booted two converts for 10 points.

Other tries were scored by Tony Else and John Youson. Gilmour was the whole show in the opening half. He gave Oak Bay a 5-0 lead only two minutes after the game started and a lead that stood up until the third quarter.

A 13-yard run by Gilmour opened the scoring. He converted and it was 5-0 at the half.

Victoria High rallied briefly early in the third quarter when Grivel scored a 10-yard try to make it 5-3.

Just when Vic High were showing signs of making a battle of it, Oak Bay suddenly caught fire to score three straight tries, one of which was converted by Gilmour.

Soggy ground conditions hampered both teams, particularly Oak Bay. The winners had to rely on short runs rather than their usual wide-open game.

Someone Was Careless

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP) — RCMP Sgt. Norman Gibson testified before a murder trial jury here Tuesday that an envelope he held in his hand contained strands of human hair. He said the strands were similar to the hair of Mrs. Mary Ann Regina Kelly, whose body was found April 11 in a rented cabin at Chilliwack, in the Fraser Valley. Sgt. Gibson pulled out a piece of paper and unfolded it.

Hurriedly he looked back in the envelope, then the folded paper. He testified the envelope was empty. "Someone has been pretty careless," said Mr. Justice A.

M. Manson before ordering the empty envelope entered as an exhibit. Clifford John Dolan, 26, a Chilliwack logger, is charged with murder in connection with the death.

DR. BODKIN ADAMS

Doctor Still Banned

LONDON (AP) — Portly Dr. John Bodkin Adams, central figure in a sensational 1957 murder trial, yesterday lost a bid to be restored to the ranks of Britain's practising physicians.

The disciplinary committee of the General Medical Council refused an application to return Adams to the physicians' register despite his plea that stigma be removed from his name. Adams bowed his head slightly when the decision was announced at a public hearing. Then the 60-year-old physician, who listed himself as being without occupation, walked slowly from the room.

The disciplinary committee removed Adams from the register in November, 1957.

Hoover-Type Inquiry For Canada?

OTTAWA (CP) — A proposal for an independent inquiry into government expenditures, similar to the United States Hoover commission, is being "exhaustively examined" by the government, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said yesterday.

He made the comment to reporters after an 80-minute meeting with a Canadian Chamber of Commerce delegation.

The chamber presented a brief that included a proposal for such an inquiry.

The chamber brief called for tougher federal labor laws that would tighten up on strikes and picketing and end the immunity of unions from lawsuits.

U.S.-Canadian Board Probes Alcoholism

EDMONTON (CP) — The formation of a new Canadian-United States commission on alcoholism which will review the entire field of alcoholism and its problems was announced yesterday by J. George Strachan, first vice-president of the North American Association of Alcoholism Programs and executive director of the Alcoholism Foundation of Alberta.

Financed with a $1,000,000 grant, the commission will investigate treatment, research and education in alcoholism and set up plans for the next 25 years.

Six-Year Sentence In Beating-Death

Third Highest Art Auction

Artistic 'Hard Sell' Brings $2,000,000

Record Price Paid For Gauguin

LONDON (UPI) — Two American-owned paintings bought by another American buyer yesterday pushed an art auction sale nearly to the $2,000,000 mark, the third highest total in history.

Raphel Rosenberg, buyer for Rosenberg & Stiebel, New York city art dealers, paid $406,000 for Paul Cezanne's "Peasant In A Blue Blouse" and $364,000 for Paul Gauguin's "I Await The Letter." It was the highest price ever paid for a Gauguin.

GOODYEAR HEIRS

Both French impressionist paintings were owned by the heirs of Anson Conger Goodyear of Old Westbury, N.Y., former paper and lumber magnate and trustee of the New York Museum of Modern Art. The Gauguin was sold by his son, George F. Goodyear, and the Cezanne by his daughter, Mrs. Mary C. Kenefick. The owners were present at Sotheby's auction rooms to watch Rosenberg take the paintings back across the Atlantic.

SPECIFIC BUYER

A spokesman for the firm in New York said that they would be resold, but he declined to disclose if he had a specific buyer.

The two Goodyear paintings were the stars of the 185-item auction, which included 86 examples of the impressionist and post-impressionist schools. There were also works by Van Gogh, Corot, Renoir, Picasso, Monet, and Roualt.

HARD SELL

But auctioneer Peter Wilson had to work hard to push the day's total $1,929,082. Time and again he called: "Will nobody offer more?" an example of the hard sell rarely heard in the stately Sotheby Rooms.

Most of the paintings sold for somewhat less than had been expected. Some experts had predicted $500,000 each for the Cezanne and Gauguin. But many minor works brought more than anticipated.

Two Van Gogh oils brought $126,000 and $84,000. Paintings by Picasso, Renoir, Modigliani, and three by Monet brought around $33,000 each.

Frogs Take Part In Election Fight

SURREY, B.C. (CP) — Bug-eyed, harmless little frogs that came with the rains have croaked their way into an election battle.

Hundreds of frogs hopped into this municipality, 20 miles south-east of Vancouver, at the height of flooding that resulted from a downpour during the weekend.

They invaded basements to dodge the high water, played among power tools, hopped among the furnaces and bedded down on old car blankets.

When the water went the frogs decided to take permanent residence in a wide area around 122nd Street.

Now when the stars come out a croaking chorus keeps residents awake.

Gordon Calam, who lives in the midst of the area, said Wednesday he will bring the matter up at an all-candidate civic election meeting Thursday.

YMCA Bars Premises To Alcoholics

WINNIPEG (CP) — An official says the association has instituted a temporary policy of not admitting alcoholics who are under treatment to its residence here.

W. C. Naylor, Winnipeg metropolitan general secretary for the YMCA, made the comment to clarify the association's policy regarding members of Alcoholics Anonymous.

Tuesday it was reported that the Central YMCA here had closed its doors to members of Alcoholics Anonymous. Mr. Naylor said the policy was that alcoholics under treatment were not admitted.

Steel Strike Parties Summoned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Federal mediation director Joseph F. Finnegan yesterday summoned steel union and management officials to mediation conferences in Washington early next week in hopes of settling their long contract dispute.

The conferences, which probably will start Tuesday, will be the government's first formal efforts to reopen negotiations since the 500,000 steelworkers returned to work Nov. 7.

Diabetes Drive

Response Beyond Hope

Public response in Victoria to the Canadian Diabetes Association's national diabetes detection week which ended recently was "overwhelming" a spokesman for the sponsors said last night.

He said the association could not release figures on the number of Victorians who applied for free diabetes test kits but added that enquiries for further information on the test week program were far beyond expectations.

The test consists of applying a urine sample to a piece of chemically treated paper which changes color if the subject has too high a sugar content in the bloodstream.

The official pointed out that a positive reaction to the test does not necessarily mean that the subject has diabetes, but merely that one of the prime symptoms of the disease is present.

Anyone Want A Town?

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — Anyone in the market for a town?

The Sydney metropolitan water board said yesterday it has one, with a population of 3,000, that it will advertise for sale early next year in the United States, Europe, southeast Asia and South Africa.

Warragamba was built at a cost of about $3,360,000 for families of men employed on a big dam project.

With Onion-Polished Crown

Scotland's King Crowned

GLASGOW, Scotland (UPI) — Bishop Homer A. Tomlinson of New York crowned himself king of Scotland yesterday with a $16 crown, newly polished with an onion.

Bishop Tomlinson, head of the "Church of God," made his first stop here on a round-the-world journey in which he expected to become king of the whole globe.

He planned to proclaim himself king of Asia today in London's Trafalgar Square.

About 200 persons watched and students sang "Good King Wenceslaus" as Bishop Tomlinson blew up a huge balloon and replaced his cloth cap with the crown. He had polished the crown with an onion in his hotel room shortly before the ceremony.

"I feel in my own heart I am king of Scotland for good, and believe me it feels good to be king of Scotland," he said.

"My wife does not believe I am really a king, but I can tell you this: I think she is a queen."

Cast, Splint and Home-Accident Season Here Again

This is the cast and splint season.

Among those most aware of the dangers of frost-slippery city streets are members of the emergency department staff at a big hospital like St. Joseph's.

As the weather changes, so does the general type of accidents dealt with in the emergency ward.

There is a sharp rise in the number of traffic accident cases requiring emergency treatment. The emergency department so far this year has dealt with an average of 28 traffic accidents a month and this figure is expected to rise

In December. Wet weather during the fall and winter months also means an increase in the number of home accidents involving pre-school children. Being confined to the house, the youngsters are more inclined to sample pills or liquids left within reach and thus bring on a hurried trip to the emergency department for a stomach lavage.

"If not getting into pill bottles," says head nurse Mrs. Hilda Corbett, "the children's play sometimes becomes a little rambunctious and, as happened recently, brother pushes baby sister through the glass doors of a china cabinet."

Two stitches closed the wound and with a lollipop from the "treatment" drawer at emergency the child is sent away content.

June, July and August are the busiest months of the year for the hospital's emergency department. During this period children swell the total with treatments for everything from insect stings and dog bites to playground accidents.

"When that door opens you never know what you're going to be called upon to do," said Mrs. Corbett.

Sometimes the staff receives no warning an emergency is on the way. This plus the fact that emergencies often happen in "bunches" calls for experienced staff to meet the crisis when it occurs.

Last year the department dealt with 11,041 cases, averaging 920 a month, and in the first 10 months of the current year the monthly average has climbed to 986.

Mrs. Corbett has a staff of three graduate nurses, Margaret Sangster, Dorothy Dixon and Edna Lamour, one student nurse, and three aides. Interns are on call for emergencies around the clock.

Recreation

Aged Plan Reception Favorable

Reaction to a proposed recreation centre for the aged has been "extremely favorable," according to Glen Hamilton, executive director of Silver Threads Service.

"We've been getting letters and phone calls from senior citizens congratulating us on the scheme," he said, then added wryly, "Now if only someone would get us some money."

Mr. Hamilton has proposed that a building to house and provide a recreation centre for senior citizens be built along the lines of a YMCA. However it is merely a plan, and would take considerable financial backing.

GALIANO—E. J. Bambrick was re-elected president of the Galiano Community Club at a recent general meeting.

Others elected include Mrs. Rita Scott, secretary; Hubert Pelzer, treasurer, and Mrs. O. Inkster, Mrs. A. E. Stewart, Miss Derry Barner, executive.

Aluminum and Sugar

Fluoridation 'Backers' Dub Charge Fantastic

Spokesmen for two industries accused here Tuesday of being motivated forces behind fluoridation yesterday dismissed the charges as "fantastic."

The aluminum and sugar industries were named as backers of fluoridation at a public meeting here by Seattle radiologist Dr. F. B. Exner and Seattle dentist Dr. Arthur B. MacWhinnie.

Dr. Exner said the aluminum industry promotes fluoridation of water supplies in order to create public tolerance for fluoride absorption because aluminum plants emit the chemical into the air.

A Vancouver official of the Aluminum Company of Canada Ltd. said "as far as any plot by the aluminum industry is concerned this is simply fantastic nonsense."

Dr. MacWhinnie charged that one of fluoridation's prime backers is the sugar industry. Its motive, he reasoned, was that the measure actually reduces tooth decay thus encouraging people to use more sugar in the belief their teeth are protected from the alleged harm commonly attributed to sugar.

A B.C. Sugar Company official in Vancouver also used the word "fantastic" in referring to the fluoridation charge.

He said the sugar industry has supported extensive research into many aspects of public health but has never supported a fluoridation campaign.

Neither has the industry produced or financed the production of any literature extolling the benefits of fluoridation to the general public.

Dennys' Solicitor:

To City at No Profit

Since R. C. Denny and T. G. Denny acquired View Street property referred to by J. Donald Smith in his election-campaign address last night, they have offered to sell it to the city for the price they paid for it, and the offer still stands, their solicitor said last night.

The solicitor, John G. McIntosh, issued a statement after Mr. Smith's meeting.

He said he had first negotiated for the property for the Dennys in 1951, and again in 1952, but because of

Off-Street Parking Law 'Garbage-Tells Nothing'

Often vigorously applauded by most of a crowd of about 400, mayoralty candidate J. Donald Smith last night named some names and cases in support of his challenged previous references to "suspicious" city land dealings.

At a meeting sponsored by the Victoria Civic Voters' Association, he:

● Referred to negotiations which he said had gone on with Mayor Percy Scurrell to buy city-owned property on Kingston Street for $22,000 for a $1,000,000 apartment block. The property was later sold for $32,500, highest of three bids.

● Claimed the off-street parking requirements were reduced from 100 per cent to 80 per cent for the sake of the Toronto interests planning the apartment, when Victoria property-owners and contractors had been thwarted by the requirements.

● Said that this was "worth looking into."

● Claimed it had been "noised around" that the city would make $50,000 on moving houses from the firehall site and rebuilding them, "but as it is, the estimate is that they are going to be out $60,000. I put it to you, how could it be possible to be out $110,000 on such a small project as that?"

Something Was Wrong

● Said there should be an inquiry into this matter too: "I am not accusing anyone of misdoings. I think something was wrong with the arrangements, I think we are entitled to find out what that's all."

● Said the mayor was on a View Street property with Standard Furniture officials, "the Dennys I believe," on or about Oct. 27, 1958, and that he had a photostatic copy of a telegram sent to the owner in California the next day offering a price which must be accepted, if at all, in two days, when the View Street parking plan wasn't publicly announced until "the first two or three days of November."

● Asked, "Was there collusion in the purchase of this property?"

If nothing was wrong, Mr. Smith said, why should anyone fear an inquiry? (See Denny rejoinder in adjoining columns.)

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, who attended the meeting prepared to answer any charges made, was not permitted to speak. Former mayor Claude L. Harrison, the chairman, said that if anyone other than Mr. Smith and the four aldermanic candidates endorsed by the association wanted to speak, they could hire their own hall.

Running on Record

Mr. Smith, who said Mayor Scurrell was running on his record "and I am running on my record, too," dealt briefly with several of his election planks but gave emphasis to the firehall house-moving, the Kingston Street property sale and, particularly, the off-street parking and mall plan.

The off-street parking by-law, he said, was a blank cheque—"What garbage! It doesn't tell you anything."

It called for taxation of property, he said, to make loan repayments totalling nearly $2,000,000, and would enable council to spend $1,000,000 on any piece of property and come back for more money.

Benefit of Business

London, Ont., had a 1,000-car parking facility and a market financed by business, he said, and New Westminster a 400-car facility with any deficit assessed against business.

The proposed Victoria facility would increase parking by 97 cars at a cost of "X millions" to the people, he maintained, for the benefit of a few businesses.

One city business, he claimed, had a four-storey parking facility "ready to go—I wonder if they're waiting until after Dec. 10 to announce it?"

He sprinkled his speech with claims of undue influence on the present mayor and council by some Chamber of Commerce directors and by "Keate and his papers."

Aldermanic candidate Victor Williams said parking meters were supposed to be to control traffic, but were now a lucrative business, and something had to be done about it.

The mayor, he said, had been claiming a man couldn't serve two masters, but "he has been doing very well serving two masters, the Chamber of Commerce and the people."

"Hit him again!" shouted someone, amidst loud applause.

No Assessment Boost

The B.C. Electric, he held, should be made to give "the sort of bus service the people require," and there should be no increased assessment on home improvements.

Bruce Passmore said the city needed a more modern and progressive government, and called for greater emphasis on attracting retired people to Victoria.

John Carlow said he was greatly interested in the welfare of the senior citizens, and told of the "filthy" conditions in which he had found an elderly man in a shack a short distance from city hall. Mountain View Home, only half full, should be filled to capacity, he said.

Alan Bigelow said all five candidates endorsed by the association were "bound together" in opposing the parking plan, but were independent.

He was interested, he said, in encouraging industry, doing more for the tourist trade, and establishing a parks commission with some continuity of service.

Besides Ald. Edgelow, two other aldermen, M. H. Mooney and Elmer McEwen, were in the audience.

They were seated in a little gallery with a few other persons including Public Works Minister Chant, and although they could hardly have known it, a banner across the front of the gallery said "Civic Voters' Campaign HQs."

Clothes Pour In for Indians

Donations of clothing are pouring in as the result of an appeal by the Indian Arts and Welfare Council on behalf of Indian families living on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Lt.-Col. Gilbert Howland, treasurer, said three-quarters of a ton of second-hand clothing has already been donated. But he added there still exists an urgent need for children's clothing of all kinds, and in particular underclothing.

He said those who wish to contribute to the drive may phone him at home, EV 3-1753, and arrangements will be made to pick up the clothing.

It's That Time Again

If Victorians need any further reminder that Christmas is just around the corner that's where they can find it—just around almost any corner in the downtown area. Colorful, cedar-trimmed, holly baskets like the one being admired here by student nurse Carol O'Neill, 2058 Kings Road, will again decorate city's shopping district during festive season.—(William A. Second Ice Surface Needed

Big Youth Plan May Fold If Ice Sheet Plea Ignored

Another plea has been made for a second ice surface in Victoria, backed by the warning that one of the city's biggest youth recreation programs may have to fold if one isn't made available.

Douglas Fletcher, president of the Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association, made the plea last night as he considered the steadily worsening problem of Memorial Arena—too many skaters, too little ice, and not enough hours.

Despite purchase of a $10,000 ice resurfacing machine that adds 400 hours to the seven-month winter schedule, Memorial Arena hasn't been able to keep up with the demand for ice time. Both the Victoria Figure Skating Club and the minor hockey leagues are in need of more time and with the hockey program, the situation has reached the desperate stage.

"We get 12 hours' ice time a week, the same as we did last year," Herbert Saville, president of the Victoria Figure Skating Club, said. "That isn't the fault of the arena management; we understand that since the machine was put in to help out more and more people are using the ice. But we certainly need more time."

"A new rink is the only answer," Mr. Fletcher insisted. "The machine has done everything it was supposed to do, but all that has happened is that other new organizations have taken the extra time, and we're right back where we started.

"In fact, as far as the minor hockey association goes, we're worse. We were promised that when the machine came we could get ice time in the afternoon. It isn't the arena's fault, but has proved impossible, and the kids are still being forced to play starting at 7 in the morning."

First Mandarin Oranges In Local Stores Today

The season's first shipment of Mandarin oranges will be in Victoria stores today, despite the fact the ship bringing them from Japan had to bypass Victoria and dock first in Vancouver.

It is possible, too, that the oranges may be available in this city before Vancouver residents have a chance to buy them, a spokesman for A. P.

Slade (Victoria) Ltd. said yesterday.

First shipment of the fruit is destined primarily each year for eastern markets, so that ship-to-train connections in Vancouver have top priority. The ship bringing them was held up by last weekend's storm in the Pacific, so a proposed stop in Victoria had to be omitted.

Valuable Fur Snatched From Rack in Store

A mink stole "possibly worth hundreds of dollars" was stolen by a snatch-grab thief from the second floor of Hudson's Bay Co. store yesterday.

The theft was made by a man at about noon, an official said. "He ran from the store and across the new parking area before disappearing."

Store detective Harry Mills said "value of the stole is not known until stock lists are checked."

At least 12 similar valuable furs were displayed on the same rack.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: I married a divorced man. His former wife is making my life miserable.

First, I am not jealous. I'm sure my husband no longer cares for her. The trouble is she recently launched a campaign to get in good with my in-laws and is succeeding.

Whenever we go to my mother-in-law's home she is there. She has sugared up my sister-in-law and gets herself invited to dinners at her place. My husband's brother's wife includes her in family parties as if she is still a member.

Last week she had the nerve to call me and ask how Ed and I were getting to with her cousin's funeral. She wanted a ride. I told Ed and he was furious. He phoned her back and suggested she hire a taxi.

Twice since our marriage she has had Ed in court trying to get more alimony. We don't want to be in this woman's company, yet she is likely to turn up at any family affair. What do you suggest?—SYLVIA.

Dear Sylvia: If your husband's family are such insensitive clods that they don't know better, they should be told—by him.

He ought to explain he has no desire to dictate with whom they should socialize, but please exclude the two of you when his former wife is invited.

Tape Recorder No Answer

Dear Ann Landers: There is quite a lot of flap around our campus about cramming for exams "the easy way." Several kids say they've had good results with the night-time tape recorder process. I'm sure you've heard of this advanced method of learning—playing a tape recorder during sleep. The theory, of course, is that the subconscious mind picks up the information.

In this age of scientific progress with so much to learn in school, we students are looking for anything that will make the learning process easier. The institutions of higher learning have so burdened us students with work that there's hardly time for anything else.

Do you approve of this academic short cut?—NO PHI BETA KAPPA.

Dear No: My heart aches for you poor overworked students who hardly have time for "anything else." But the tape recorder method of learning while you sleep does not work in the way you seem to think.

Information heard during sleep merely familiarizes you with material. This isn't the same as LEARNING it.

So, for the time being, you poor abused slaves are going to have to use the antiquated method of staying up and studying which probably means cutting down coffee dates to four nights a week.

Don't Apologize for Home

Dear Ann: We moved to this awful dump two months ago because my dad got a good price for our nice home.

I am ashamed of this terrible place and don't want to bring any of my friends here. I am afraid they will lose respect for me if they see the kind of place I live in. A certain boy has been asking me for dates. Shall I meet him at the movie? Maybe if he gets real sweet on me he could take the shock of this house. Please help.—LIVING IN A DUMP.

against you they aren't worth much. Invite people over and make no apologies.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Tips for Parents

Gifted Child Needs Love

By HELEN R. HEWSON

"We have discovered by means of psychological tests that our eight-year-old son has superior ability. He has been an excellent student but is not doing well at school this year."

"We live in a small community where there is no special school program for the gifted. The teacher is frankly sceptical of his ability to do extra work and wants to see an improvement in present interest and application before she will consider an enriched program for him."

MORE CHALLENGE?

"We believe that he needs more challenging work. What can we do at home to improve his general attitude and work habits at school?"

It would be wise to discuss the psychologist's report with the principal.

Also talk over with him how additional reading, experimental and creative materials can be introduced into the classroom.

READ BOOKS

Read one or two good books about gifted children such as "Educating Gifted Children" by De Haan and Havighurst, University of Chicago press, and "Education of the Gifted" a compilation of material by several Canadian authorities published by Copp Clark.

These books are probably available in your public library or the teachers may have one or both in their school library. You will find many excellent ideas in them.

What is done for the gifted at home is similar in many respects to what is done in a good home for any child.

First in importance is that the child be loved and appreciated for what he is. Naturally parents are pleased when their child does well in school. But if he brings home a poor report card they will seek ways to help and encourage him and not resort to personal criticism and fault-finding.

SECURITY

A child who is secure and happy at home has a good basis for a satisfying school life, too. His feeling of well-being grows out of his everyday experiences, learning to live, work and play with others, learning to accept reasonable rules and the gradual understanding and acceptance of standards and values. There are many subtle as well as direct ways in which family life influences the child's life at school.

NEED TO SHARE

He will need to have friends at different age levels. He will enjoy sharing hobbies and special interests with older children but his own age group will help him to acquire social and emotional balance.

The home can also provide artistic and intellectual stimulation. A child who has been surrounded by good books and music and who has had an opportunity to experiment with crafts and creative materials will develop interests that enrich and give new meaning to his school life.

Will Queen Wear Suit?

OTTAWA (CP)—An "easy-birth" decompression suit may be worn by the Queen when she has her third child early next year, the South African Information Service said Wednesday.

An information office spokesman said that while details of the suit are not available here, it is designed to wear during labor to ease childbirth by controlling air pressure on the abdomen. The wearer can control pressure to suit her comfort.

One such suit has been sent to King's College Hospital in London at the specific request of Dr. John Peel, the Queen's gynaecologist.

moon after hearing a talk at the meeting of the Women's Canadian Club yesterday.

Dr. Jean McDonald, an astronomer at the astrophysical observatory gave a talk, packed full of interesting facts, on the subject "Moons of the Earth," to the club, in the Empress Hotel.

Dr. McDonald said that all science is an attempt to satisfy man's curiosity and that many questions now being asked are about space and the moon.

Facts known about the moon up to now have been limited by distance and the strength of telescopes.

Within two years the United States expects to have a telescope mounted in an orbiting satellite, which will give us a closer look.

In the geophysical year that lasted from 1957 to 1958 all nations turned their attention to studying space and other planets. The results of experiments with Sputniks, and American rockets answered many queries about space travel.

Dr. McDonald left the imaginations of the Canadian Women's Club members working on what science could discover in their lifetime.

Mrs. R. G. McKee, president, introduced the speaker, and Mrs. Ken Drury proposed a vote of thanks.

Canadian Gowns Lovely, Dramatic, Truly Fabulous

By DOROTHY WROTNOWSKI

Breath-takingly lovely, dramatic and truly fabulous were the Canadian couturier gowns shown at the Jaycee-Ette fashion parade at the Sirocco last evening.

But they weren't what you would call wearable by Victoria standards. Most models were definitely in the "show" class. But some modification would make them fully acceptable.

A fashion trend worth note—both in Couturier and local styles—is that the ball gown has dropped to the floor. All Couturier formal gowns were long, and seven of the gowns from 700 Yates also touched the floor.

DRAWN APPLAUSE

In the Couturier group a gown named "a romantic rhapsody" drew murmured applause from the capacity mixed audience. Of turquoise acetate and nylon lace the gown skimmed the ankles in front and swept into a train at the back. The strapless bodice was also tiered and a fringed sash in darker shade fell to the floor at the back.

A gown with a strong Spanish flavor was of black lace, tiered skirt and off-the-shoulder neckline repeating the tiers. At the back a swooping black taffeta sash was caught with a cluster of yellow roses.

SOFT TONES

Another dream ball gown was of nylon sheer screen printed in soft tones of blue and green with a soft pink underskirt giving a misty glow. The backward swirling skirt, caught with bows to give a bustle effect, terminated in a train.

"Day-into-evening triplicity," consisting of hooded coat, bolero jacket, and short evening dress was an almost anywhere outfit. A jersey material of acrylic fibre and wool printed in red, black and wine, the dress bared one shoulder, and a single, giant frog was the only closure on the coat and bolero.

VICTORIA GOWNS

Victoria stores produced some stunning dresses and gowns designed for the holiday season of cocktail parties and dances.

"Frosting on a Wedding Cake" was the term used by commentator Ida Clarkson to describe a frothy gown of white lace over pink taffeta.

BLUE SHEATH

Reminiscent of the '30's was a sheath of blue frost pure silk, full length, with pronounced back fishtail.

Two stunning theatre costumes were shown. One was a sheath dress of gold embossed roses on black brocade with sheer chiffon overblouse and full length flared coat featuring large cuff pockets.

BASIC OUTFIT

Very basic, but one of the prettiest outfits, was a dark brown "Blin and Blin" costume—a sheath dress topped with a boxy jacket trimmed with mink collar. A draped beige panne hat and shoes with the still very pointed toes completed the outfit.

Sports coats, slacks, casual jackets, cardigans, topsuits and lounging apparel shown by male models created as much interest as the women's clothes, but not quite as audibly.

A fountain playing amidst a profusion of flowers provided a striking background for the colorful clothes that were modelled by Dorothy Peaker, convenor, Mary Rawnsley, fashion co-ordinator, Doris Usher, Sandra Halkett, Michele Vanderuyt, Myrtle Ledger, Cathy Johnson, Joyce Harris, Bud Bell, Jim Coffey, Carl Dreidger, Jack Griffiths, Bob Haldane, Ron Jay, Bill Phillips, Tom Price, Tommy Scott, Peter Torgness, Bruce Warburton and Tommy Wyatt.

LITTLE SISTERS

Two little sisters, Connie and Wilma Brooks showed dresses for the very junior set. Reginald Stone played soft organ background music during the showing.

The show which is under the distinguished patronage of His Honor the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Ross, the Hon. the Premier and Mrs. Bennett, His Worship the Mayor and Mrs. Scurrah will be repeated again this evening.

Spanish Flavor

Fandango tiers of black lace create this Spanish-type dress, one of the most spectacular in the showing of couturier gowns at the Sirocco last evening.

Loveliest in the World

Shoe Store Triumph

LONDON (CP)—The opening of a new shoe store sounds like an ordinary event, but experience has shown it can be an artistic triumph.

For this particular store has been called the loveliest in the world. And British fashion writers seem to agree.

The shop was designed by Oliver Messel, one of Britain's best known men in interior decorating, for royal shoe-maker, Edward Rayne. Opening ceremonies brought sighs of admiration from jaded fashion reporters.

MOST ELEGANT

The new building, combining structures formerly occupied by a shoe store and a bank, stands on Bond Street, and

Soraya Happy In Seclusion

Soraya, who was divorced by the Shah last year, has remained in seclusion of her Rome villa for the past two days.

"Their marriage was finished long ago and now Soraya has another life," one of her friends said. "If there is any sadness, any melancholy, she does not show it among us, even to her closest friends."

may help to restore to the thoroughfare its old reputation as London's most elegant shopping street.

The exterior is of dark green and white marble, suggesting the luxury of the Regency period. Delicate white iron-work balconies, solved the problem of different window levels.

LUXURIOUS INTERIOR

Inside the rooms are lined with carmine and pale green silk. There are recessed bays, indirect lighting and thick, beige wall-to-wall carpets. But no description can fully convey the atmosphere of tasteful luxury in which the arcaded rooms are steeped.

Messel told a Canadian Press reporter he nearly turned down the job, but changed his mind when he saw the premises.

"I would never attempt anything on a large scale," he said. "It would be too commercial."

Messel designed the well-known celebrity suite in the Dorchester Hotel. He also was responsible for the highly-praised staging of the opera

What's Cooking!

Wild Duck Worthy Dish

By LOUISE MOORE

I was thinking how helpful it would be if we had an ambitious hunter in the family who would sally forth and bag the game for a special fall dinner.

Of course, I am not suggesting a dark trip to some barnyard where ducks are waddling about, but a brace of wild duck would make mighty good eating.

And, I might add, that the way some men handle a gun, any duck would be wild. So just in case you have a straight shooter in the family and a brace of wild duck is dumped on the kitchen table, here is how you would cook them—and it is such a pity for a hunter to bring home the game and then have it spoiled in the preparation. Here is a dish worthy of the highest praise.

HUNGARIAN ROAST DUCK

Prepare 2 wild ducks weighing from 2 to 2½ pounds, but you'll likely have to take what you get—that is dressed weight. Sprinkle inside and out with salt and pepper and paprika. Place apple and onion quarters in cavity of each, using 2 apples and 2 onions. Cover breasts with bacon strips—3 slices each, and fasten with string. Place ducks, breasts up, in baking pan.

BASTE OFTEN

Roast in pre-heated oven (350) 1 to 1½ hours, or 15 minutes per pound, basting frequently with butter. Combine 3 cups sauerkraut and 4 juniper berries, crushed, 2 tsp. caraway seeds and 2 slices cooked bacon crumbled in shallow casserole. Mix well. Place in oven 20 minutes before ducks are done. Discard apple and onion quarters, remove string. Carve ducks. Arrange duck slices on sauerkraut and serve with potato pancakes, plum or other tart jelly, hot biscuits and ale or beer. Makes 4 servings.

BRAISED PARTRIDGES

Clean and sprinkle 4 partridges, inside and out, with salt, pepper and flour. Heat ¼ cup bacon fat in skillet; add partridges and brown on all sides. Add ½ cup milk, 1 can cream of celery soup, ½ cup chopped onion and ½ tsp. caraway seeds. Bring to boil, cover and cook slowly over low heat 25 to 30 minutes or until birds are tender, basting frequently with sauce in pan. Serve with wild rice timbales, orange and grapefruit salad, hot rolls and ale or beer. Makes 4 servings.

MARINATED VENISON

Remove skin, bones and tough tendons from 3 pounds of venison (shoulder, neck, breast). Cut meat in 1½-inch pieces. Combine in bowl—2 medium onions sliced, 1 carrot sliced, 2 stalks celery, 1 clove garlic crushed, 10 peppercorns, 1 tbsp. chopped parsley, 5 juniper berries if you can get them, 1 bay leaf, 1 tsp. salt, juice of 1 lemon, ½ cup salad oil and 1 16-oz. bottle of beer or ale.

LET IT STAND

Add meat and let stand in refrigerator 1 to 2 days, turning meat often. Place meat and marinade in a large kettle or pot, bring to boil. Cover and simmer over low heat 1½ to 2 hours or until meat is tender. Remove meat and strain the liquid, forcing the vegetables through a sieve. If desired, thicken liquid with flour mixed with a little water. Serve meat with the sauce, buttered onions and carrots, parsley, potatoes, and the usual beverage that goes with venison, beer or ale. Makes 6 servings.

WILD RICE

Wash 1 cup wild rice thoroughly in several waters; melt 1 tbsp. butter in saucepan. Add 1 tbsp. minced onion and saute until tender. Add rice, 1 tsp. salt and 2 cups water or chicken broth (canned or made with 1 chicken bouillon cube and 2 cups hot water). Bring to boil, stir once. Reduce heat. Cover tightly and cook over very low heat 35 to 40 minutes. Transfer to a buttered shallow baking dish and place in slow oven 10 to 15 minutes or until rice grains are separate and dry. Serve with game birds. Makes 3 cups or 4 servings.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

—by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, November 26th—First step on my Christmas shopping expedition? Why, "My Bank," of course! That's where I pick off some of those special names that used to give me so much trouble. For those out-of-town nephews and nieces, for instance, I've solved the problem by giving gay, holly-decorated BANK OF MONTREAL Christmas Gift Cheques or Money Orders in their brightly coloured folders and envelopes. And I'm starting several small-try off on the right foot—with B of M Savings Accounts. The special passbooks in their gay covers lend a cheery seasonal touch to these practical gifts. If you can't think of the right gift for the "hard-to-choose-for," think of "MY BANK" for a "money-gift" with a real Christmas flavour. Your neighbourhood B of M has quite a selection.

HERE'S A MIRACLE OF FLAVOR that suits modern tastes to a "T" . . . I mean MIRACLE WHIP by Kraft. I prefer the large, economical 32-ounce jar because I use Miracle Whip constantly in all my fruit and vegetable salads and in a variety of sandwich fillings. And the more I use it, the more sure I am that there's nothing else like Miracle Whip! Its good taste is unique . . . it has a light and lively flavor that enhances other flavors without overwhelming them. Get the large, 32-ounce economy-size jar of Miracle Whip. It's so popular, you can be sure it's always fresh when you buy it!

ALL THE MOTHERS I'VE TALKED TO are delighted with the beautiful colored Bird Cards that come FREE in every package of RED ROSE TEA and COFFEE. They're something extra for the children—something to keep them busy even when the weather's bad. And now there's a special illustrated album to mount the cards. A full 20 pages about birds for only 25¢ from your grocer, or direct from Red Rose—Dept. N 1, Brooke Bond Canada Limited, 6201 Park Avenue, Montreal 8, Quebec. Look for Red Rose Tea or Coffee when you shop. Get the extra bonus for grown-ups too—the full-bodied flavor of Red Rose Tea and Coffee.

FLAVOUR MAGIC! NO TRICK at all to bring that subtle gourmet touch to all your cooking—with MAGGI Bouillon Cubes, a concentrate of chicken flavour. I say "all" your cooking—because you can use Maggi Cubes magically in so many ways. Add dissolved Maggi Cubes to your vegetable, meat or chicken casseroles for overtones of delectable flavour. Drop 2 or more Maggi Cubes in boiling water before adding rice—and oh! how good it is. You'll find a large cup of steaming hot Maggi Chicken Bouillon at bed-time brings sound sleep, sooner. (Only 4 calories per serving, too.) Look for the red and yellow Maggi package!

A NEW TREAT FOR GUESTS! Next time friends drop in unexpectedly and you're enjoying the TV . . . serve them something new—Green Olive Spread whipped up with AYLMEYER MANZANILLA Olives. Combine half a cup of mashed sardines with a tablespoonful of mayonnaise and a little lemon juice. Add a dozen chopped Aylmer Stuffed Manzanilla Olives—and use as a sandwich spread. Aylmer Olives are always special—the Plain Queen, Stuffed Queen, or Manzanilla. You can get them in ice-box jars in handy sizes. So—whether for family pleasure, or guest delight—make it Aylmer Olives!

WHY SO CHEERY, PRETTY LADY? I'd like to wager you're happy because you've given your family a piping hot breakfast, and given them the best you know—RED RIVER CEREAL. Hope so, anyway, because Red River is really good for old, young, and middle-aged. We all enjoy its nutty, wholesome blend of cracked wheat, rye and flax—as nourishing as it's delicious. Red River brings energy values to youngsters and active workers—and guards regularly for older folk, or sedentary workers. Easy to prepare—cooks in a few minutes. Red River costs so little, too!

SO MUCH OF GOOD HEALTH . . . lies in good nutrition! And that, m'dears, means serving nutritious foods like BLUE BONNET MARGARINE, all the time! Remember that Blue Bonnet is now and always has been made from the finest ingredients . . . pure vegetable oils and pasteurized skim milk, with Vitamins A and D added. That's the reason you'll find that Blue Bonnet makes the flakiest pastry, the lightest cakes and the crispest cookies. . . . Vegetables are doubly delicious when topped with Blue Bonnet's goodness. . . . It's the favorite spread on sandwiches and toast. Do try nutritious Blue Bonnet yourself and see!

WE ALL ENVY the seemingly tireless energy of the smaller fry . . . yet all too often, even the sturdiest youngsters are dangerously exhausted at day's end. Wise mothers now protect their children by giving them one of the new Wampole VITA-POPS every day. Wild-cherry flavored Vita-Pops look and taste like candy . . . yet they contain 8 precious vitamins—including vitamins A, C, D and B12, the precious vitamins so essential for sound growth and good health. Make sure your young get their vitamin requirements by giving them just one Vita-Pop a day! It's great health insurance at $2.50, or the economy sized bottle at only $5.50.

DULL, DARK DAYS OUTSIDE, maybe, but at the table I hope your family is enjoying the sunshine-freshness of AYLMEYER FANCY PEAS—ASSORTED SIZES. Back last summer, these peas were grown on carefully selected Canadian farms. When they reached perfection Aylmer rushed them, fresh-harvested, to nearby canneries—sealed and cooked them, often within the hour. That's why they're so extra special—so young, tender and deliciously sweet. Do stock up on these famous bright, white peas . . . labelled Aylmer Fancy Peas—Assorted Sizes. I know that you'll agree they're the most succulent, the sweetest, tenderest peas you ever tasted!

"I WISH THAT EVERY SUFFERER from chronic bronchial or asthmatic attacks would learn about the quick relief which is brought by RAZ-MAH Capsules." That note of satisfaction and gratitude comes from a lady in Quebec City . . . she is just another among the thousands to whom RAZ-MAH has brought freedom from these harassing afflictions. If you find that you often gasp for breath, wheeze and cough with bronchial or asthmatic attacks, I suggest you seek immediately the quick and long-lasting relief from acute suffering offered by RAZ-MAH Capsules. Remember, RAZ-MAH has brought comforting relief to thousands.

Firecrackers Under Licence?

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Junior SPCA committee will send a resolution to city council asking that purchase of firecrackers be permitted only under city licence. A committee resolution notes that "indiscriminate sale and use" of firecrackers results in "unnecessary suffering to animals as well as children."

Treats for Christmas

Part of the joy (and sometimes the pain) of Christmas is that most people eat more than usual. To be on a diet in the festive season must be a real test of character. So many mouth-watering sweetmeats tempt us into an extra nibble or two.

Toothsome packets of crystallized fruit range from 95 cents. At $5.50 a bread tray made of California redwood is included.

COVERS HELP

Boxes of walnut-topped dates, sugar almonds and marzipan fruits look irresistible under their cellophane covers.

Some of the meltis fruits, sugared figs and Turkish delight from England are selling fast. When they are gone there will be no replacement this year, so do not be disappointed.

Boxes of orange and lemon slices, chocolate ginger and fudge are other delights of the season. Attractive jars of ginger make nice presents from $2.25. Entertaining can mean hard work but one store has an excellent party service which takes care of all hostess' headaches. They will cater for parties of any size.

With parties in mind, jars of croutons and bite-sized bits called "snackers," are useful cocktail extras. New spreads of exotic mixtures come in tins at 95¢. Try the chicken liver and chestnut, or the Baltic herring as something special for cracker topping.

Presents with a personal taste are baskets of cocktail delicacies made up to order, all sizes, tied with a large festive bow.

Selected jars of jam, arranged in a small cracker basket would make a welcome gift for a sweet-tooth.

'Christmas Island' Anchored in Lake

OLYMPIA (AP) — A floating "Christmas Island," carrying 400 trees, a huge star of Bethlehem and a floodlighted nativity scene will be anchored in Capitol Lake here.

White, gold and pink lighting will play on the island, and Christmas carols will be broadcast from loudspeakers.

Schools' Eye Test Criticized

Eye examinations given to children in school are completely inadequate, a Victoria optometrist said last night.

"The chart test they take doesn't prove anything except that they have 20-20 vision from a distance," Roy F. Jeune told a meeting of the Chinatown Lions Club. "Nothing is done to find out if they can see for close work, and that is the most important part of all."

"Children spend most of their lives doing close work, yet the only test we give them is for distant vision," he went on.

"There's a popular game going on in which education is criticized. They say children can't read. But maybe they can't read because they can't see to read."

"A child has no way of knowing whether he sees the world in the same way you do. One patient can pass the 20-20 test, but up close he sees double. He doesn't realize that other people don't."

"The chart test for distance solves only half the problem. Unless something is done, thousands in Victoria will grow up without help, never knowing what they are missing."

Springhill Rescue Crews Win Medal for Heroism in Disaster

Group Award First Given Since Titanic

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP) — The Carnegie Gold Medal was given Wednesday to miners of this disaster-torn coal town who risked their lives to save fellow workers trapped in a colliery upheaval last year.

It was only the second time that the medal was presented to a group since it first was struck by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission of the United States more than 50 years ago.

The presentation was made by Premier Robert L. Stanfield of Nova Scotia to Monson Harrison, president of the United Mine Workers, District 26, local here. He accepted on behalf of the miners.

HIGHEST DEGREE

The rescue crews, who moved into the collapsed No. 2 colliery of the Cumberland Railway and Coal Co. after the Oct. 23, 1958, upheaval that killed 75 men, are cited on the medal for showing courage and determination which "exemplified the highest degree of heroism."

Premier Stanfield's voice was low and tight with emotion as he addressed a gathering that included about 300 "bare-faced" rescue workers, men who went underground without oxygen masks.

"I cannot find words to describe the courage of these men," the premier said. "It was a bravery that continued day after day... surely the very highest kind of valor we know."

EFFORTS REWARDED

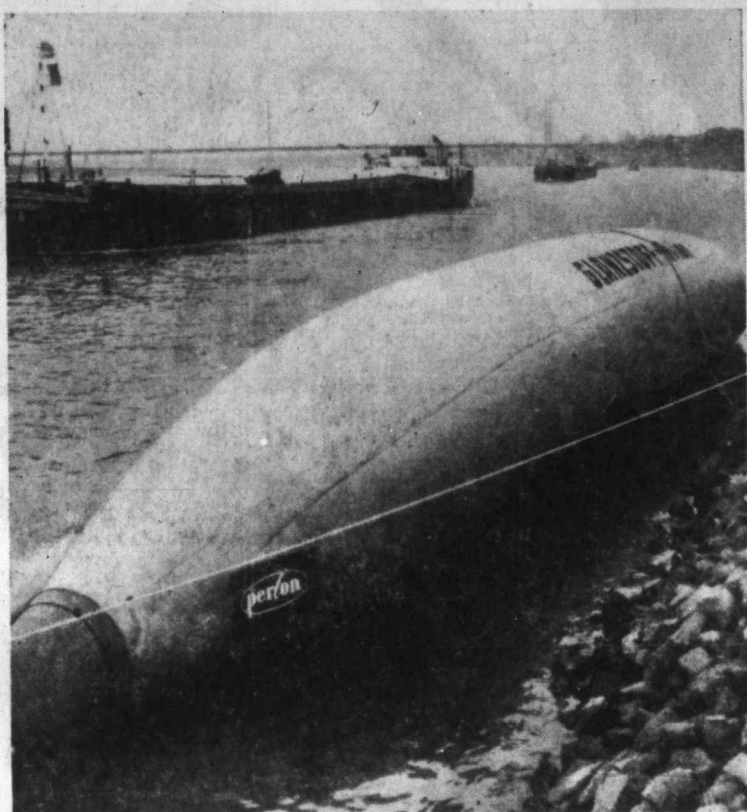

"Thank God their efforts were rewarded by finding comrades days after it would have hardly been thought possible."

Shelter Study

OTTAWA (CP) — Civil defence authorities in Brockville, Ont., are co-operating with federal and provincial government officials in a pilot study of protection against radioactive fallout afforded by existing buildings in urban areas.

Twelve men were found seven days after the bump and seven more were found two days later.

The only other time the medal was presented to a group was following the sinking of the Titanic.

Barge Made of Plastic

The odd object that resembles a beached whale is actually a plastic container for transporting liquid products by water. Being demonstrated on river Rhine at Dusseldorf, Germany, it's 80 feet long and eight feet in diameter. It can easily be towed by a tug, thereby reducing transportation costs for shippers.

Traditional Ceremony

PPCLI Lays Away Colors in Church

Anti-Cancer Program Expanding

Victoria's cancer control program is expanding steadily. Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson said yesterday the cancer clinic at Royal Jubilee Hospital gave a total of 14,689 cancer examinations and treatments in 1958 compared with 13,226 the previous year. He predicted "the total will be up again for 1959."

Dr. Anderson—as a cancer society official and medical administrator of Royal Jubilee Hospital—is a leader in both the volunteer program of education and welfare and in the actual treatment program.

Gas Kills Children

WOODBURY, Conn. (AP) — Two children were found dead in their home Wednesday, apparently victims of carbon monoxide poisoning from a defective gas heater.

Their mother, Mrs. Louis Palumbo, whose husband currently is serving a prison term, was taken to hospital with her nine surviving children for emergency treatment.

The colors were presented to the unit in 1934 in Winnipeg. They were laid away yesterday in St. Paul's Garrison Church, Esquimalt.

For the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, the intervening 25 years of peace and war saw long periods of routine development, weeks of bitter battle and moments of glory in Europe and Korea.

Those years, and the years of regimental history that preceded them, were recalled yesterday by a number of "Old Patricia's" who attended the ceremony. They listened closely, some inside, some outside the church, as regimental adjutant Capt. R. J. Frost knocked on the church door with the hit of his sword.

REQUEST MADE

The door opened, and to Rev. J. A. Roberts, Capt. Frost said:

"Reverend Sir, I have been commanded by Lt.-Col. J. C. Allan, commanding officer of the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, to inform the authorities of this church that he has repaired here today with the old colors of the battalion, and desires admission to prefer a request that they be deposited herein."

Padre Roberts replied: "Sir, inform Lt.-Col. Allan, commanding officer of the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, that every facility will be afforded him in executing his most laudable purpose."

Standing in bright sunshine on Esquimalt Road, the PPCLI color guard saluted the old colors for the last time, and then the color party entered the church.

Inside, Col. Allan said to the rector:

"On behalf of the officers and men of the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, I have the honor to inform you that these are the colors of their battalion, and to request that they be deposited here for safekeeping, as a token of their gratitude to Almighty God, by Whom alone victory is secured; for His providential care and gracious benediction granted them in the discharge of duty. In so acting they also desire to provide a memorial to the men of all ranks who served under these colors, and to afford an inspiration for patriotic service and sacrifice to all who may worship here for all time to come."

HANDED OVER

Following acceptance of the colors by the rector, the two flags were turned over by the color officers to the two guard majors, who in turn handed them to the church wardens.

Mr. Roberts then draped them in turn over the altar.

New Brands Of Liquor Approved

The provincial cabinet yesterday approved inclusion of six additional brands of Canadian whisky, two imported dry gins, six rums and three wines on a revised Liquor Control Board price list.

Use of Police As Firemen; No Action?

Attorney-General Robert Bonner indicated yesterday that no immediate action is likely regarding use of policemen as firemen and vice-versa, as is the case in Esquimalt and contemplated in New Westminster.

He said a report from the B.C. fire marshal's department is "private insofar as my department is concerned. The current situation does not warrant any expression of opinion by the department."

TV TALK

Dr. Benjamin Spock, famous author of "The Common Sense Book of Baby and Child Care," will try to refute the claim that "you can't raise children by the book" on the fourth Woman! broadcast at 4 p.m. Dec. 16 on Channels 7 and 12.

The program will also travel to New Haven, Conn. for an on-the-scene study at Yale University's Child Study Centre and the Gesell Institute of Child Development.

As its central case study, the program will visit Mrs. Gladys Russell, wife of the Methodist chaplain at Yale. Specifically, the broadcast will study her six-year-old son, Biff, and will take a close look at his tantrums, his troubles in school and his disputes with his brothers and sister.

The program will examine young Biff's behavior patterns as he undergoes extensive testing at the Yale study center, and talk with his teachers and family pediatrician.

"You Can't Raise Children By The Book" will also examine the statement that while the present generation may be better informed than its parents, it is more confused, more anxious and less sure of itself in relation to its children.

"These end zone seats aren't bad after all!"

Alberta Classification

Salary Adjustment Set for Servants?

EDMONTON (CP)—A third

justments as the result of a job classification report which

ernment at the end of the year, J. H. Holloway, public service commissioner, said

Wednesday.

He said the report will cover about 70 per cent of the full-time civil service jobs. The remainder will be classified

Salaries for some jobs probably will be increased, while

Nothing definite has been decided, but it is believed this will not mean a drop in pay for civil servants now in positions which have been "downgraded."

It is expected persons in these jobs will continue to re-

their successors would take over at the reduced rate.

discussion between the government and the Civil Service

Association of Alberta.

'TV Bottom' Newest

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canada's fitness experts are developing a new disorder—television bottom.

So says Harcourt Roy, executive director of the National Fitness Council.

He told the Humane Science Society Tuesday night that Canadians are "going to pot" mentally, physically and emotionally. Their bodies are becoming pear-shaped through stuffing their stomachs and not using their legs.

"Right now it isn't fashionable to keep in shape," he said. "People won't run around the block just for the joy of physical exercise because they fear the neighbors will talk. "Possibly the answer for these people is modified yogi. This way they can exercise without letting the cat out of the bag."

Wrong Theatre

King and Queen Lose Bearings On Night Out

By RICHARD GROWALD

LONDON (UPI)—The king and queen of Sweden starred last night in a royal snafu at the theatre.

And it apparently all began when visiting Queen Louise directed King Gustav Adolf to the wrong theatre.

The royal visitors rolled up in their Rolls-Royce at the Haymarket Theatre, dismissed the limousine and stood on the sidewalk under the marquee. Nothing happened. They walked inside the theatre. Still nothing happened. No one greeted them.

"Where are our friends—and tickets?" the queen finally asked. The king shrugged.

The friends, with the tickets, were waiting in the lobby of the Globe Theatre, where the theatre manager was anxiously glancing at his watch, tapping his foot and peering down the street in search of a Rolls-Royce.

Grumbles began inside the theatre. Naturally the curtain couldn't go up until the King and Queen of Sweden arrived. Meanwhile, back at the Haymarket, the royal couple hailed a taxicab. The cab promptly ran into a mammoth Piccadilly Circus traffic jam caused by fire engines racing to a blaze.

They arrived at the Globe only 15 minutes late despite their troubles.

Editor Fined In Manitoba For Contempt

THE PAS, Man. (CP)—Thomas W. Dobson, editor of the Flin Flon Daily Reminder, Tuesday was found guilty of contempt of court and fined $100 in connection with stories concerning a murder trial here last week.

Among items objected to by the court was an editorial commenting on the jury and directions given the jurors by the judge.

Movie Cleanup Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Catholic leader sought yesterday to have all major religious bodies join in a campaign to clean up the movies.

The proposal was made by Bishop James A. McNulty of Paterson, N.J., chairman of the Catholic bishops' committee which supervised the legion of decency.

He suggested that the time is ripe for formal "co-operation of Catholics and non-Catholics" to combat "certain elements which have arisen in the production, exhibition and advertising of entertainment films."

Bishop McNulty noted recent Protestant activity in this field. A special commission of the national council of churches has been studying the problem and is scheduled to submit a report.

Garden Notes

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

If for any reason you have fruit trees which you wish to move to other positions or to another garden, this is the ideal time to do it. If transplanted now, they will have a chance to settle down and make a little root growth before they are called upon to produce any foliage in the spring, and they won't be so susceptible to summer drought as those moved in the spring.

The younger the tree or bush, the more quickly it should recover from the shock of the move. In fact, when young trees are growing too vigorously—making too much new wood and showing no sign of coming into bearing—it is often good practice to lift and replant them solely with a view to giving them a slight check. This will often induce fruitfulness in an otherwise reluctant fruit tree.

Older trees need more consideration and more careful handling. I have transplanted a 15-year-old pear tree successfully, but it isn't an easy job and I don't think I would want to tackle it again. Moving a large tree, while quite possible, is seldom worthwhile, but if for sentimental or other reasons it MUST be done, your best bet is to leave the job to a specialist who has the equipment, the know-how, and the trained labor for the job.

With trees of more moderate size, the lifting and replanting should be done in one operation. The new site should be prepared first, with the width of the new planting hole corresponding with the size of tree to be moved.

For a bush tree six to 10 feet tall, the hole should be six feet in diameter, and after the topsoil is dug out and set aside, the subsoil should be broken up well, working in some rough, half-rotted compost and about five cupfuls of pulverized limestone.

Old turf will provide an excellent reserve of food for the tree. It should be spread grass side down over the loosened subsoil. The pile of topsoil should be mixed with a quantity of peat moss and bone meal, and a mound of the mixture placed in the centre of the planting hole for the roots to sit on.

In lifting the tree, the aim should be to retain as many of the fine, fibrous feeding roots as possible, plus a sufficient length of main root to provide good anchorage. I find the best method is to take out a circular trench 2½ feet from the trunk, severing any thick roots which are exposed, after th spade can be worked down underneath the tree to cut any downward-growing tap root.

All the severed roots should be trimmed off very cleanly with a sharp knife, making slanting cuts sloping downward, to encourage the horizontal growth of new roots. While not strictly necessary, I think it pays to dust the cut surfaces with a little Rootone hormone rooting powder. The tree should then be set in position on its mound of soil, with its roots sloping gently downward.

As filling in proceeds, the tree should be jiggled up and down occasionally to work the soil around and under the roots, and when the hole is two-thirds full, pour in a bucket of water to which has been added a few drops of Vitamin B1. When this planting solution has drained away, finish the filling in, using loose, dry soil on top.

All newly planted or transplanted trees will require really firm staking and tying to prevent the ruinous wind-rocking which so often spells failure and the loss of the tree. Like a broken arm in splints and a cast, the roots must be completely immobilized until the very fine, hair-like feeding roots emerge to "marry" the soil.

Weekend Filled with Music

The air was alive with music over the weekend. George Gershwin took over Friday night. Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart enriched Sunday evening with his sweetness and genius. Saturday night, Gene Kelly enlivened television for an hour.

I found each of these separate hours stimulating and captivating without finding any of them entirely satisfying. To take them up in the order of their importance, Leonard Bernstein and the Philharmonic bringing us the splendors of the "divine Mozart" from Venice under the sponsorship of the Ford Motor Company is one of those rare treats that this barbaric capitalist culture isn't supposed to offer its down-trodden citizens. (And to be quite honest, we don't get such things very often.)

Bernstein played and conducted the second and third movement from Mozart's Piano Concerto in C Major, a piece of music of such elegance and warmth and power and unutterable sweetness that even non-Mozartian types are melted by it. First, Bernstein spoke of Mozart with that sweeping facility of phrase and mastery of his subject that are his trademarks.

I wish, though, he'd get over the professional interrogative. "Why Mozart?" cries Bernstein at the opening. Then he proceeds to answer his own question. Stylistically, this has become a very bad habit and I wish he'd cut it out or at least down. Joseph N. Welch who delivers what he calls a "message for Americans" in the middle of the program, suffers from the same disease. ("Why are we so interested in educating our children? Because education means leadership. Only an educated man survives in this age." And so forth.

But these are tiny flaws. Otherwise, it was an exalted hour of music and I thank CBS and Ford for bringing it to me.

The Bell Telephone Hour showered George Gershwin on us with a lavish but undiscriminating hand. Polly Bergen, Vic Damone and Ella Fitzgerald sang, Andre Previn and Teddy Wilson played, and Marge and Gower Champion danced to the music. Ira Gershwin provided a short commentary. Mostly, though, the music spoke for itself eloquently enough.

The Gene Kelly show started out very large and then dwindled a little as it went along. I loved a dance duet with Carol Lawrence to "Shall We Dance?" which had great grace and charm. Even better was a duo with his old companion from "Singin' in the Rain," Donald O'Connor, who in many respects is a better dancer. There's practically nothing I'd rather do than watch these two get together in a lazy, relaxed, and tuneful bit of hoofing.

Altogether it was a nice weekend.

Brando as Lawrence?

NEW YORK (NANA)—Sir Alec Guinness, wino and dined during his telefilming stay here, is off to London for his movie, "Tunes of Glory," scheduled to start January 4. Then Sir Alec stars on stage in the new Terence Rattigan play, "Lawrence of Arabia"—not to be confused with director David Lean's movie on the same man, based on the D. H. Lawrence book, "Seven Pillars of Wisdom." Lean wants Marlon Brando for this one...

Would you like to smell like royalty? There's a new perfume, "The Princess Grace" Kelly, of course. The makers are offering the former movie queen $100,000 for a few seconds on film, spraying herself with her namesake scent. She hasn't said yes, but she might.

You can't always believe the critics. Vivien Leigh's Noel Coward play, "Look After Lulu," was chopped up by most London reviewers. But Vivien and the play are a big hit nonetheless... Incidentally, Sir Laurence Olivier will probably be Lord Olivier in the near future.

At Sardi's Restaurant, producer Oscar Serlin told me of the first test taken by Fred Astaire at Paramount in the early 'thirties. Fred was turned down with the comment: "A middle-aged man, slightly bald, and looks like Charlie Butterworth."

Oscar reminded me that he first saw Mary Martin when she was a singer in the cinderella at the Roosevelt Hotel in Hollywood—and no one ever expected her to make the grade. It was Billy Rose who told Mary to go home, and tend to her knitting.

I see where Eddie Fisher cancelled his $30,000 date in Miami Beach — to remain with wife Elizabeth Taylor in New York. A nice action. But makes me think of what happened to Michael Wilding—Liz's second mate—who lost his thriving career in England when he came to Hollywood to be with her, when the switch should perhaps have been vice versa.

Winning Contract

The bidding:
South West North East
1♥ Pass 2♥ Pass
3♥ Pass 3♥ Pass
4♥ All Pass

Opening lead: ♠ J

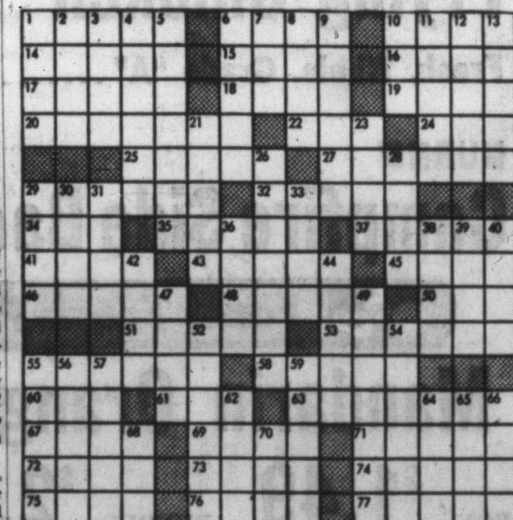

South had too many losers for a forcing bid, and wisely selected a one heart opener. North didn't like his distribution and, despite his two honor tricks, he chose the properly conservative bid of two hearts. A more aggressive choice, such as a bid of two clubs, would surely have sent North-South too high.

Unfortunately, declarer was over-confident. Winning the club lead on the board, he led the heart jack and finessed to West's king. West returned the club ten. East ruffed dummy's ace, and fired the spade queen. Now there was no way for South to avoid the loss of a spade and another club, so the defenders finished up with four tricks.

A more cautious declarer, warned by East's play of the club queen at trick one, would have foregone the Lear finish. Playing the ace and a small heart, no combination of cards could have endangered the contract. The correct way to play this hand is a fine example of why experts go miles out of their way to avoid taking a finesse.

Welfare Agencies Will Help Select the 500 Neediest Families

Welfare agencies in Greater Victoria are joining forces to complete one of the most important facets of The Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund drive.

Actual selection of the 500 needy families to receive money from the fund will be made by the Christmas bureau.

All other welfare agencies will submit names of the most desperate cases in their files and final selection will be made from these lists.

In this way donors to the fund are assured that their money will truly go to the 500 families in the area that can best use the funds.

Welfare agencies are urged to submit their lists to the Christmas Bureau as soon as possible to avoid delay in distributing cheques when the fund is closed just before Christmas.

As in the past three years, donations to the fund will be deductible from 1959 Income Tax. Confirmation was received yesterday from the Taxation Division, Department of Internal Revenue. Receipts will be mailed to all donors.

Yesterday, the fund went over the $1,000 mark with donations varying from $25 to 50 cents, submitted by a war veteran who said he wanted to help as much as he could.

Total to date is $1,003.69.

Reds Skip Veto

GENEVA (Reuters) — Russia Wednesday unexpectedly showed willingness to abandon veto rights in a proposed East-West commission to police a ban on nuclear weapons tests.

The welcome move came shortly before some 30 nuclear scientists of the United States, Russia and Britain began a 15-day study on the detection of underground explosions.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin suggested a study on alternative procedures to the veto.

After the meeting, he told reporters: "We are trying to find forms of voting in the control commission other than unanimity among the three original nuclear powers."

The unanimity idea has plagued the United Nations and other international bodies. It means that one of the great powers, by opposing the others, can exert a veto on any major decision.

City Seeks $199,000 From Resigned Mayor

EDMONTON (CP)—The city of Edmonton Wednesday filed a $199,000 statement of claim against former mayor William Hawrelak and nine other individuals or companies.

Named as defendants were: Metropolitan Investments, owned by Hawrelak; Dominion Stores Limited; Jean F. Carrol, land buyer for Dominion; Dr. William Shandro and Paul Shandro, brothers-in-law of Mr. Hawrelak; Globe Construction Limited; City Centre Motel and Michael Bordin.

Mr. Hawrelak resigned after an inquiry decreed he was guilty of gross misconduct.

Christmas Deadline For Many

OTTAWA (CP) — A spokesman for the federal government's professional employees said Wednesday professionals will start leaving their jobs by the hundreds within the next month if pay increases are not granted.

The movement was disclosed in an interview by S. W. Sametz, president of the Professional Institute of the Public Service of Canada. The institute represents some 5,000 of the government's 9,000 professional employees.

CONCERTED EFFORT

He said there has been a concerted effort by private industry to obtain scientists and other professional civilian employees of the department of national defence. But many other government departments were considering outside jobs as well.

"A considerable number of professional people are staying on in the hope that the government will make pay adjustments still," said Mr. Sametz.

But a lot seem to be on the point of making a decision. Certainly Christmas is the deadline.

Mr. Sametz emphasized "this is not a group decision but one by individuals, although all are being made on the same basis and with the same effect."

Asked whether the number considering leaving would be in the hundreds, he said "I was thinking in terms of higher figures than that."

HIGH RATE
Vacancies were already occurring at a high rate. The institute was conducting a study and preliminary figures indicated 20 per cent of professional positions in the civil service were vacant.

This was in contrast with a turnover ratio of about five per cent in May, 1957, when the government granted professional employees their last general salary increase.

Violent Blast Rocks Montreal Hospital

MONTREAL (CP) — A severe explosion rocked the southwest wing of St. Luke Hospital Wednesday, injuring two doctors and an orderly and causing damage as high as the fourth floor.

Several patients received minor cuts from plaster shaken from the wall by the force of the blast. None was seriously hurt.

PATIENTS SAFE

All 178 patients in the wing were evacuated. Twenty were released or sent to nursing homes, the rest taken to other parts of the hospital.

Arthur Pageau, 66, a patient, died of a heart attack half an hour after the explosion while his bed was being wheeled to another part of the hospital.

The first floor of the wing was reduced to rubble.

FALLING PLASTER

The two injured doctors were buried in shattered plaster as they walked along a second-floor corridor.

Dr. Marcel Dusserault, 43, was taken to the Montreal Neurological Institute with a fractured skull. His condition is serious. Dr. Louis Benard, 57-year-old surgeon-in-chief, was treated at St. Luke for lacerations and shock.

The hospital uses natural gas in its kitchens in the basement, where the explosion hit hardest.

Skyscraper Rocket On Its Way to Moon

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The most powerful rocket ever assembled by the United States blasted off early today in an effort to place the first satellite in orbit around the moon. It would arrive at the moon Saturday.

Operation of Bridge 'Wide Open' to Probe

HALIFAX (CP)—Transport Minister Hees said here Wednesday night that the operation of the Jacques Cartier Bridge in Montreal will be thrown "wide open" to investigation by a parliamentary committee. (See also Page 3).

The bridge operation and threats against two senior national harbor board officials would be put before the railways and canals committee as soon as possible after Parliament opens. "We have had this under investigation for two years," Mr. Hees said. "We were never able to get enough evidence for a conviction. The only other thing to do was to put in the automatic toll devices."

European Defenders 'Scattered, Unusable'

India Ready, Able To Fight for Its Life

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told an aroused parliament yesterday that India was ready and able to fight for its life if the border dispute with Communist China erupted into war.

Nehru raised his voice to emphasize the point in one of the strongest speeches he has made yet on the simmering frontier argument with India's giant neighbor.

Nehru pleaded for unity. He said this would be the country's greatest strength.

He said he did not think the border argument with Peking, which has cost the lives of a number of Indian soldiers already, would lead to war.

"But if war is thrust upon us," he said, "we will fight with all our strength."

"I am not boasting but our defence forces are capable of taking care of the security of our country."

CHIANG KAI-SHEK

Chiang Plans Air Invasion

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek plans to parachute 3,000 specially-trained Nationalist Chinese troops into Red China in "the near future" to touch off a revolt against the Communist regime, Rep. Silvio O. Conte (R., Mass.) said yesterday.

Conte has just returned from a month-long tour of southeast Asia which included a 75-minute talk with Chiang on Formosa.

Germans Hold Front

PARIS (UPI)—The commander of NATO operations in central Europe believes, the West would find its Belgian and Dutch troops "unusable" and its French forces all in Algeria should the Soviet launch an attack today.

French air force Gen. Jean Valluy described the present military situation in central Europe in a briefing for provincial French reporters.

Valluy said NATO's first line of defence in Europe was manned entirely by the Germans "and there would have to be some delay before the arrival of British and American troop reinforcements."

In contrast, he said, "some 20 Soviet divisions (400,000 men) and 7,000 armored vehicles are concentrated in East Germany. In a few days these 20 divisions would be 50 and the 2,000 planes, 4,000."

The general said while NATO also had 20 divisions, "we have nothing in depth. The Belgian and Dutch forces are unusable for the moment," he said. "The French forces are in Algeria."

Recognition of China May Be Forced on U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—American officials said yesterday that any effective disarmament plan would require some sort of recognition of Communist China no matter how reluctant the United States might be.

They expressed the view after Secretary of State Christian A. Herter indicated at his news conference that some thought had been given to the problem. Herter said it was "very much of a question."

The United States has refused to recognize Red China and has successfully fought her admission to the United Nations because of her aggression in Korea and elsewhere. But something may have to give if there is ever to be a foolproof disarmament pact. China would have to be brought into a nuclear control system. The plan calls for some 180 control stations spread throughout the world and some obviously would have to be on the China mainland.

Fraser Pilots Return to Jobs

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Fraser River pilots went back to work yesterday and the port returned to normal.

The seven pilots tied up the port at noon Tuesday when they refused to work because the department of transport had not taken over operation of the pilot boat. Yesterday, the department agreed to pay the cost of operating the boat which pilots said was too costly for pilots themselves to operate.

Assault Count Dismissed

SPCA Man Freed On Kiss Charge

Father of Six Never Close He Testifies

NANAIMO — "Like Caesar's wife, an SPCA official must at all times be careful of his actions," Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts said yesterday.

He made the remark in dismissing a charge of assault against Nanaimo SPCA inspector Otto Eugene Comis.

IN SUCH MANNER

Magistrate Beevor-Potts said that although Miss Raynor testified in a straightforward manner he found it difficult to believe a man of Comis' standing would act in such a manner.

Miss Raynor testified she told Comis he could not inspect kennels on her parents' property because her mother, Mrs. S. E. Raynor, was away and she had been told never to enter the kennels with a stranger.

She said Comis then tried to hold her and kiss her but she pushed him away and ran into the house and locked the door.

LOT OF TROUBLE

Miss Raynor said Comis told her: "Look here, sister, if you behave yourself you can save your parents a lot of trouble."

When she shunned him further he said: "I'm going to get the RCMP and make it hot for your mother." Miss Raynor claimed.

Miss Raynor said she had delayed bringing the charge for several days because she did not want to "drag the Miss Nanaimo title through the mud."

CAUSE TROUBLE

Asked if she could define what she meant when she said Comis had told her he was going to cause some trouble, Miss Raynor replied:

"Trouble? He's shown a prime example of that!"

She apparently referred to a case in which her mother was convicted last Thursday of cruelty to animals on a charge brought against her by Comis.

Mrs. Raynor was given a 14-month suspended sentence and ordered to pay court costs of $42.25 within 30 days or go to jail for 21 days.

IT'S A LIE

Comis' first words about Miss Raynor's testimony were: "It's a lie."

He said Miss Raynor's attitude at the kennels was belligerent. Comis said that on a previous occasion, Mrs. Raynor had told him she would be waiting with a loaded shotgun if he came near the home.

When asked why he ventured to the Raynor property unaccompanied, Comis replied: "I don't intimidate very easily."

Inspector Comis, father of six children, said he was never less than six feet from Miss Raynor and that she had a "belligerent attitude."

Permission Given

Port Alberni Scouts Plan to Sell Trees

PORT ALBERNI—Boy Scouts have won the permission of city council to sell Christmas trees in the city.

Proceeds of the sale will go to scout groups in the city. Other items discussed at the council's regular meeting:

The C. T. Hilton School PTA will be told construction of sidewalks for the block in which the school is located would require passage of a local improvement bylaw involving the school board and private owners in the block. Questions concerning traffic signs in the area were referred to the traffic committee.

R. W. Ahlquist asked that a ditch on the east side of the 700 block Fourth Avenue be filled in to eliminate a parking hazard in the vicinity of the new bowling alleys, and to permit development of off-street parking. The matter was referred to the works committee.

The finance committee will study the report on Port Alberni Gun Club's request for a lease on city property in Glenwood now occupied by the club.

Council approved employment until the end of 1959 of George Dowling, who was put back into his former position as purchasing agent on a temporary basis following his official retirement.

Mayor Jordan suggested that a meeting be arranged with Alberni council before the end of the year to discuss matters of common interest, including joint pound operation, sharing of costs of the sewerage lagoon and setting up a committee for community planning.

Alberni Racers Win Four Boat Awards

Island Chambers:

'Capture More Tourists!'

NANAIMO—The Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island want an all-out bid made to capture more tourists' dollars for British Columbia.

The chambers made this clear when they backed a previous brief to the provincial government which requests the travel bureau to spend a minimum of $250,000 on mass media advertising.

SET UP FUND

At a meeting in Nanaimo yesterday, Victoria chamber's tourist committee chairman, Sam Lane, said his committee has also recommended each individual chamber set up a tourist fund.

This would be used to supplement government spending in the advertising field to further promote tourist trade on Vancouver Island.

SELL MORE

He said the province must begin to sell more than its scenery and attempt to attract entertainment enterprises here.

The associated chambers' executive will urge all Island chambers to set up a "Tourist Appreciation Week," similar to Victoria's.

ALBERNI—Four awards for Region 19 (British Columbia) were won by Alberni Valley Motor Boat Racing Club members in the past season.

Awards were made in Vancouver when representatives of the sport from widespread points met for the annual, regional meeting and banquet.

4,100 POINTS

Jack Butterworth and his son, Gordon, who raced their 136 c.i. Toss-Up in 14 regattas during the season, racked up 4,100 points to win the Bardahl trophy for the 136 class and the Castrol trophy for highest points for all hydros. They were also awarded the Sprout Lake Motor Boat Club's trophy for aggregate points in the region. The local trophy is sponsored by Somass Shipyards.

POINT TOTALS

Joe Van Bergen's Sassy was runner-up in point totals in the 136 class.

The Butterworths' craft was built by the father and son two years ago and this year was entered in races from Coeur D'Alene to Kelowna, in the state of Washington and at Vancouver Island points. The 14-foot 6-inch boat is powered by a V8-60 stock motor.

Restocking Of Lake Planned

CHEMAINUS—The fish and game branch will restock Fuller's Lake, near Chemainus soon, a biologist said yesterday.

David Hurn of Nanaimo said recent tests with a box of fingerlings showed the lake is free of the poison which was used a year ago to kill a poor quality fish that had been in the lake.

About 2,000 rainbow trout will be put into the lake in time for fishing next summer. He said Wheddie's Lake, nearby, is also free of poison but that it will not need to be restocked because cutthroat trout from a stream running into it has already restocked naturally. Both lakes are at present closed to fishermen.

Fred Fatt Wins Bird Trophies

Nanaimo Flying Object

'Ball' Bounced On Mountain

NANAIMO — Two school board employees sighted a huge, bouncing ball over Echo Mountain near Nanaimo during the weekend while they were on a hunting trip.

"The stars were out, but this was so much brighter and bigger it couldn't be anything else but one of those flying objects," said Audie Baldwin, 48, of 691 Cadogan, a truck driver.

He saw the object about 6.45 a.m. Sunday with Richard Jackson, 35, of 310 Chesterlea, a bus driver, from a distance of about four miles while waiting for daybreak.

Mr. Baldwin said it was the color of a star, made no noise and had visible edges like a saucer.

When it was first sighted the object was stationary above the mountain. Then it gradually descended until it was completely hidden.

About 30 seconds later it came up again and remained visible for about a minute, said Mr. Baldwin. Finally it descended until the top rim showed above the mountain, then it rose again to remain in the same spot for about five minutes before going down out of sight behind the mountain for good.

"I'll never come that close again," said Mr. Baldwin last night. "We had my son-in-law's camera in the back of the car but we didn't think of taking a picture. I sure wish we had."

The son-in-law had been left to hunt on nearby O.K. Mountain, said Mr. Baldwin. He did not see the object.

"I think I saw one of those things about three years ago. I thought it was a star going down. I could see it moving and then it went behind a mountain. It wasn't as large as this," he said.

Mr. Baldwin said a fellow employee, Harry Lomas, also of Nanaimo, reported seeing an object in the same vicinity about three weeks ago. It seemed to take off from a mountain and then remain suspended in the sky.

Has Answer to Dispute Alberni Candidate Feels

PORT ALBERNI — George A. McKnight, who is seeking election to city council, believes he has the answer to Port Alberni's fixed assessment dispute with MacMillan & Bloedel.

Mr. McKnight will explain his plan at a public meeting to be held at 8 p.m. Dec. 6, in Nurdy Centre.

"I will certainly not stand by and allow our taxes to be doubled without doing all I can to stop it," he said yesterday.

"For my part, I believe that if the people of this city are prepared to stand up and demand justice and organize their efforts to get it, it can be won."

Under the fixed assessment agreement, Port Alberni can only assess the $32,000,000 MacMillan & Bloedel plant at $800,000. But the city's share of school costs is calculated on the higher value.

Cast, Splint and Home Accident Season Here Again

This is the cast and splint season. Among those most aware of the dangers of frost-slippery city streets are members of the emergency department staff at a big hospital like St. Joseph's.

As the weather changes, so does the general type of accidents dealt with in the emergency ward. There is a sharp rise in the number of traffic accident cases requiring emergency treatment. The emergency department so far this year has dealt with an average of 28 traffic accidents a month and this figure is expected to rise in December. Wet weather during the fall and winter months also means an increase in the number of home accidents involving pre-school children. Being confined to the house, the youngsters are more inclined to sample pills or liquids left within reach and thus bring on a hurried trip to the emergency department for a stomach lavage. "If not getting into pill bottles," says head nurse Mrs. Corbett, "the children's play sometimes becomes a little rambunctious and, as happened recently, brother pushes baby sister through the glass doors of a china cabinet." Two stitches closed the wound and with a lollipop from the "treatment" drawer at emergency the child is sent away content. June, July and August are the busiest months of the year for the hospital's emergency department. During this period children swell the total with treatments for everything from insect stings and dog bites to playground accidents.

"When that door opens you never know what you're going to be called upon to do," said Mrs. Corbett. Sometimes the staff receives no warning an emergency is on the way. This plus the fact that emergencies often happen in "bunches" calls for experienced staff to meet the crisis when it occurs. Last year the department dealt with 11,041 cases, averaging 920 a month, and in the first 10 months of the current year the monthly average has climbed to 986. Mrs. Corbett has a staff of three graduate nurses, Margaret Sangster, Dorothy Dixon and Edna Lamour, one student nurse, and three aides. Interns are on call for emergencies around the clock.

Recreation

Aged Plan Reception Favorable

Reaction to a proposed recreation centre for the aged has been "extremely favorable," according to Glen Hamilton, executive director of Silver Threads Service. "We've been getting letters and phone calls from senior citizens congratulating us on the scheme," he said, then added wryly, "Now if only someone would get us some money."

Mr. Hamilton has proposed that a building to house and provide a recreation centre for senior citizens be built along the lines of a YMCA. However it is merely a plan, and would take considerable financial backing.

Others elected include Mrs. Rita Scott, secretary; Hubert Pelzer, treasurer, and Mrs. O. Inkster, Mrs. A. E. Stewart, Miss Derry Barner, executive.

Aluminum and Sugar

Fluoridation 'Backers' Dub Charge Fantastic

Spokesmen for two industries accused here Tuesday of being motivated forces behind fluoridation yesterday dismissed the charges as "fantastic."

The aluminum and sugar industries were named as backers of fluoridation at a public meeting here by Seattle radiologist Dr. F. B. Exner and Seattle dentist Dr. Arthur B. MacWhinnie.

Dr. Exner said the aluminum industry promotes fluoridation of water supplies in order to create public tolerance for fluoride absorption because aluminum plants emit the chemical into the air. A Vancouver official of the Aluminum Company of Canada Ltd. said "as far as any plot by the aluminum industry is concerned this is simply fantastic nonsense."

Dr. MacWhinnie charged that one of fluoridation's prime backers is the sugar industry. Its motive, he reasoned, was that the measure actually reduces tooth decay thus encouraging people to use more sugar in the belief their teeth are protected from the alleged harm commonly attributed to sugar.

A B.C. Sugar Company official in Vancouver also used the word "fantastic" in referring to the Victoria charge. He said the sugar industry has supported extensive research into many aspects of public health but has never supported a fluoridation campaign.

Neither has the industry produced or financed the production of any literature extolling the benefits of fluoridation to the general public.

Mr. Hill said last night he has a telegram from the Brantford Public Utilities Commission, stating flatly that the fluoride applied to the water system has not affected the piping system.

The claims of fluorides eating away water piping were made at an anti-fluoridation rally held Tuesday night.

Mr. Hill said last night he has a telegram from the Brantford Public Utilities Commission, stating flatly that the fluoride applied to the water system has not affected the piping system.

The suggestions will take into consideration the limited money available, said Coun. Staples. A report from the engineering firm is scheduled to be discussed at the council meeting Dec. 3.

PORT ALBERNI—An 18-year-old youth was fined in Alberni court when he appeared on an unusual charge laid under a section of the Public Schools Act.

Stanley Gabel was accused of disturbing or interrupting classes in progress at A. W. Neill Junior High School. The charge was laid by the RCMP following a complaint that Gabel and a juvenile had entered the school and were shouting and creating a noise while classes were in session.

Gabel was fined $10 while his companion was placed on indefinite probation.

Gilbert Howland, treasurer, said three-quarters of a ton of second-hand clothing has already been donated. But he added there still exists an urgent need for children's clothing of all kinds, and in particular underclothing.

He said those who wish to contribute to the drive may phone him at home, EV 3-1753, and arrangements will be made to pick up the clothing.

To Island Kaiser, Butlin Coming?

Tourist trade group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce will vote tonight on whether to ask two of the world's best known tourist attraction entrepreneurs to invest in Vancouver Island.

Group chairman Sam Lane said last night he will ask his committee to send letters inviting Honolulu's Henry J. Kaiser and England's Billy Butlin to the Island with a view to developing tourist facilities here.

Mr. Kaiser is no stranger to Victoria, having once been a superintendent on local street construction projects before going on to build a vast industrial empire based upon metals and shipbuilding. He is currently engaged in a multi-million dollar Honolulu tourist accommodation project.

Canadian-born Billy Butlin in recent years has revolutionized resort operation in the British Isles.

Second Ice Surface Needed

Big Youth Plan May Fold If Ice Sheet Plea Ignored

Another plea has been made for a second ice surface in Victoria, backed by the warning that one of the city's biggest youth recreation programs may have to fold if one isn't made available.

Douglas Fletcher, president of the Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association, made the plea last night as he considered the steadily worsening problem of Memorial Arena—too many skaters, too little ice, and not enough hours.

Despite purchase of a $10,000 ice resurfacing machine that adds 400 hours to the seven-month winter schedule, Memorial Arena hasn't been able to keep up with the demand for ice time. Both the Victoria Figure Skating Club and the minor hockey leagues are in need of more time and with the hockey program, the situation has reached the desperate stage.

"We get 12 hours' ice time a week, the same as we did last year," Herbert Saville, president of the Victoria Figure Skating Club, said. "That isn't the fault of the arena management; we understand that since the machine was put in to help out more and more people are using the ice. But we certainly need more."

"A new rink is the only answer," Mr. Fletcher insisted. "The machine has done everything it was supposed to do, but all that has happened is that other new organizations have taken the extra time, and we're right back where we started. In fact, as far as the minor hockey association goes, we're worse. We were promised that when the machine came we could get ice time in the afternoon. It isn't the arena's fault, but has proved impossible, and the kids are still being forced to play starting at 7 in the morning."

The season's first shipment of Mandarin oranges will be in Victoria stores today, despite the fact the ship bringing them from Japan had to bypass Victoria and dock first in Vancouver.

It is possible, too, that the oranges may be available in this city before Vancouver residents have a chance to buy them, a spokesman for A. P.

Slade (Victoria) Ltd. said yesterday. First shipment of the fruit is destined primarily each year for eastern markets, so that ship-to-train connections in Vancouver have top priority. The ship bringing them was held up by last weekend's storm in the Pacific, so a proposed stop in Victoria had to be omitted.

Tough 1.23 Canyon Miles Will Cost $2,242,723

Highway building costs in British Columbia are spiralling. Lowest tender submitted yesterday for 1.23 miles of Trans-Canada Highway was $2,242,723. But highways department officials were quick to point out the tender is for one of the toughest parts of the Fraser Canyon at China Bar Bluff and involves a tunnel and big rock cut. Low bid was submitted jointly by Emil Anderson Construction and Highway Construction, both of Vancouver. Highest bid was for more than $3,200,000 for the less than 1½-mile section.

Welfare Agencies Will Help Select the 500 Neediest Families

Welfare agencies in Greater Victoria are joining forces to complete one of the most important facets of The Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund drive.

Actual selection of the 500 needy families to receive money from the fund will be made by the Christmas bureau.

All other welfare agencies will submit names of the most desperate cases in their files and final selection will be made from these lists.

In this way donors, to the fund are assured that their money will truly go to the 500 families in the area that can best use the funds.

Welfare agencies are urged to submit their lists to the Christmas Bureau as soon as possible to avoid delay in distributing cheques when the fund is closed just before Christmas.

As in the past three years, donations to the fund will be deductible from 1959 Income Tax. Confirmation was received yesterday from the taxation division, department of internal revenue. Receipts will be mailed to all donors.

Yesterday, the fund went over the $1,000 mark with donations varying from $25 to 50 cents, submitted by a war veteran who said he wanted to help as much as he could. Total to date is $1,003.69.

Reds Skip Veto

GENEVA (Reuters) — Russia Wednesday unexpectedly showed willingness to abandon veto rights in a proposed East-West commission to police a ban on nuclear weapons tests.

The welcome move came shortly before some 30 nuclear scientists of the United States, Russia and Britain began a 15-day study on the detection of underground explosions.

Soviet delegate Semyon Tsarapkin suggested a study on alternative procedures to the veto.

After the meeting, he told reporters: "We are trying to find forms of voting in the control commission other than unanimity among the three original nuclear powers."

The unanimity idea has plagued the United Nations and other international bodies. It means that one of the great powers, by opposing the others, can exert a veto on any major decision.

Ex-Mayor, Others Face $199,000 Suit

EDMONTON (CP)—The city of Edmonton Wednesday filed a $199,000 statement of claim against former mayor William Hawrelak and nine other individuals or companies.

Mr. Hawrelak resigned after an inquiry decreed he was guilty of gross misconduct.

Low Pay Cited

OTTAWA (CP) — A spokesman for the federal government's professional employees said Wednesday professionals will start leaving their jobs by the hundreds within the next month if pay increases are not granted.

The movement was disclosed in an interview by S. W. Sametz, president of the Professional Institute of the Public Service of Canada. The institute represents some 5,000 of the government's 9,000 professional employees.

CONCERTED EFFORT

He said there has been a concerted effort by private industry to obtain scientists and other professional civilian employees of the department of national defence. But many other government departments were considering outside jobs as well.

"A considerable number of professional people are staying on in the hope that the government will make pay adjustments still," said Mr. Sametz.

The professional institute said division heads had been forestalling a wholesale movement. "We don't like to see the public service disrupted. But a lot seem to be on the point of making a decision. Certainly Christmas is the deadline."

Mr. Sametz emphasized "this is not a group decision but one by individuals, although all are being made on the same basis and with the same effect."

Asked whether the number considering leaving would be in the hundreds, he said "I was thinking in terms of higher figures than that."

HIGH RATE

Vacancies were already occurring at a high rate. The institute was conducting a study and preliminary figures indicated 20 per cent of professional positions in the civil service were vacant.

This was in contrast with a turnover ratio of about five per cent in May, 1957, when the government granted professional employees their last general salary increase.

Violent Blast Rocks Montreal Hospital

MONTREAL (CP) — A severe explosion rocked the southwest wing of St. Luke Hospital Wednesday, injuring two doctors and an orderly and causing damage as high as the fourth floor.

Several patients received minor cuts from plaster shaken from the wall by the force of the blast. None was seriously hurt.

PATIENTS SAFE

All 178 patients in the wing were evacuated. Twenty were released or sent to nursing homes, the rest taken to other parts of the hospital.

Arthur Pageau, 66, a patient, died of a heart attack half an hour after the explosion while his bed was being wheeled to another part of the hospital.

The first floor of the wing was reduced to rubble.

FALLING PLASTER

The two injured doctors were buried in shattered plaster as they walked along a second-floor corridor.

Dr. Marcel Dusserault, 43, was taken to the Montreal Neurological Institute with a fractured skull. His condition is serious. Dr. Louis Benard, 57-year-old surgeon-in-chief, was treated at St. Luke for lacerations and shock.

The hospital uses natural gas in its kitchens in the basement, where the explosion hit hardest. But cause of the blast was unknown.

U.S. Moon Rocket Fails to Make It

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A powerful Atlas-Able moon rocket blasted off early today from the Florida testing ground, but failure of the upper stages ruined the U.S. effort to launch the first lunar satellite.

The four-stage missile was as tall as a 10-storey building.

Operation of Bridge 'Wide Open' to Probe

HALIFAX (CP)—Transport Minister Hees said here Wednesday night that the operation of the Jacques Cartier Bridge in Montreal will be thrown "wide open" to investigation by a parliamentary committee. (See also Page 3).

The bridge operation and threats against two senior national harbor board officials would be put before the railways and canals committee as soon as possible after Parliament opens. "We have had this under investigation for two years," Mr. Hees said. "We were never able to get enough evidence for a conviction. The only other thing to do was to put in the automatic toll devices."

European Defenders 'Scattered, Unusable'

India Ready, Able To Fight for Its Life

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told an aroused parliament yesterday that India was ready and able to fight for its life if the border dispute with Communist China erupted into war.

Nehru raised his voice to emphasize the point in one of the strongest speeches he has made yet on the simmering frontier argument with India's giant neighbor.

Nehru pleaded for unity. He said this would be the country's greatest strength.

He said he did not think the border argument with Peking, which has cost the lives of a number of Indian soldiers already, would lead to war.

"But if war is thrust upon us," he said, "we will fight with all our strength."

"I am not boasting but our defence forces are capable of taking care of the security of our country."

Chiang Plans Air Invasion

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek plans to parachute 3,000 specially-trained Nationalist Chinese troops into Red China in "the near future" to touch off a revolt against the Communist regime, Rep. Silvio O. Conte (R., Mass.) said yesterday.

Conte has just returned from a month-long tour of southeast Asia which included a 75-minute talk with Chiang in Formosa.

Germans Hold Front

PARIS (UPI)—The commander of NATO operations in central Europe believes the West would find its Belgian and Dutch troops "unusable" and its French forces all in Algeria should the Soviet launch an attack today.

French air force Gen. Jean Valluy described the present military situation in central Europe in a briefing for provincial French reporters.

Valluy said NATO's first line of defence in Europe was manned entirely by the Germans "and there would have to be some delay before the arrival of British and American troop reinforcements."

In contrast, he said, "some 20 Soviet divisions (400,000 men) and 7,000 armored vehicles are concentrated in East Germany. In a few days these 20 divisions would be 50 and the 2,000 planes, 4,000."

The general said while NATO also had 20 divisions, "we have nothing in depth. The Belgian and Dutch forces are unusable for the moment," he said. "The French forces are in Algeria."

Fraser Pilots Return to Jobs

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Fraser River pilots went back to work yesterday and the port returned to normal.

The seven pilots tied up the port at noon Tuesday when they refused to work because the department of transport had not taken over operation of the pilot boat. Yesterday, the department agreed to pay the cost of operating the boat which pilots said was too costly for pilots themselves to operate.
